Clash On B.C. Relief Work Revealed Crews of Fighters Are Driven Back As Flames Roar Through Forests

Telegram Held From Committee Comes To Light

Message Shows Premier Bennett Rebuked B.C. Finance Minister For Alleged Efforts To Shift Responsibility

URGED B.C. TO ACT ON BUSINESS BASIS

Telegram Says Apparently Funds Were Used For Provincial Purposes At Expense of Municipalities

Repeated accusations by Liberals that vital information regarding negotiations between the Dominion and British Columbia governments regarding unemployment relief withheld from the committee of the B.C. Legislature which investigated unemployment were substantiated to-day when the telegram from Premier Bennett to Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, was made known.

A copy of the important telegram to Mr. Jones which revealed a clash between the two governments over payment of relief appropriations was tabled in the House of Commons on the last day of the session. In spite of the fact that the telegram was not made available to the committee of the B.C. Legislature until after the session, it was held that the telegram was not made available to the committee of the B.C. Legislature until after the session.

The telegram, dated January 29, contains a rebuke to the B.C. Finance Minister for alleged efforts to shift the responsibility for relief to the Dominion Government. It was tabled in response to a motion of Thomas Rennie, M.P., Westminster. The telegram reads as follows:

"Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, Victoria, B.C.

"Do you think it serves any useful purpose to send telegrams to me merely for the purpose of being able to show them to the public and others and thereby endeavor to establish that responsibility for existing conditions in your province is attributable to federal and not provincial administration?"

"We have forwarded you $2,300,000, of which $200,000 was an open advance, the remaining $2,100,000 being secured by treasury bills for provincial and municipal expenditures on authorized relief work."

"Apparently you have used these funds in whole or in part for provincial purposes at the expense of amounts due municipalities."

"We have no contract with municipalities and can only issue to them orders to discharge their obligations and must obviously direct them to you for payment."

"Total accounts received here, including those returned for revision, do not aggregate $1,400,000. Assuming that one-half the total sums advanced are properly chargeable against the Dominion, you have been paid for the province and municipalities the full amount of which you are entitled."

"Ladner, who represented your government, must understand this message and take appropriate steps to deal with matter on a business basis as other provinces do."

(Signed) P. B. BENNETT, Prime Minister.

This telegram is significant in showing that the whole of the correspondence between the province and the Dominion with regard to the unemployment question, was not tabled before the Legislature's committee, notwithstanding the repeated assurances from Chairman Twigg and the government counsel, Brigadier-General J. A. Clark, that everything "relevant" was being produced. It also discloses that the Dominion government was not prepared to accept the terms of the agreement which Mr. Ladner was concerned with produced at the inquiry.

Ewe Attacks Coyote To Defend Lamb

Writing from Salmon Arm, J. B. Munro, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, tells of an unusual incident in connection with a coyote hunt. A rancher, Bert Waby Jr., living in the district, followed his flock of lambs one morning with a rifle, hoping to bag a coyote which had been raiding his stock. A short distance from the farmhouse the coyote appeared and seizing a lamb, was attacked by a ewe. Releasing the lamb to attack the mother, the ewe came to grief through a bullet from Waby's rifle. Ranchers in the district say it is the first time a ewe is known to have attacked a coyote.

DRIVER FAINTS; CAR HITS TWO

Three Injured When Man Loses Consciousness at Wheel on Oak Bay Avenue

Two persons fled to-day from an automobile at the wheel of which was an insensible man. But they moved scarcely quickly enough. As a result, Miss Alma Gorton, 1534 Redfern Street, a nurse, and A Jacklin, 1536 Redfern Street, are suffering from injuries.

The driver, C. R. Barker, 2106 Granite Street, who, according to the police report, had fainted while in control of the car, sustained cuts on his face and a bruised chest.

The police report stated Miss Gorton and Mr. Jacklin were waiting for a street car on Oak Bay Avenue at the Redfern Street intersection. About twenty-five feet east of Redfern Street, a car proceeding towards town, suddenly mounted the sidewalk on the north side of the street. Miss Gorton and Mr. Jacklin tried to avoid it, but were struck. The car came to a stop against an oak tree.

Mr. Jacklin was taken to the Jubilee Hospital by Arnold-Johnson, 2440 Delahouse Place, and Mr. Barker was conveyed there by Norman Yarrow. Miss Gorton was taken home. Dr. Boak attended to Mr. Barker and Miss Gorton and Dr. Ridewood to Mr. Jacklin.

Irish Senate Not Following Valera

Declines to Allow Free State Constitution to Be Amended to Abolish Oath of Allegiance to Crown

Canadian Press and Associated Press

Dublin, June 8.—Decision of the Free State Senate this afternoon in rejecting two sections of the government's bill to abolish the oath of allegiance to the King have the effect of preventing abolition being implemented in the constitution of the Free State.

The senate agreed without a division to a section of the bill which abolishes the form of the oath laid down for members of parliament in the Constitution Act, but the opposition majority, by votes of 30 to 22, and 31 to 22, defeated a section which would have repealed the provision in the constitution stipulating anything repugnant to the Anglo-Irish treaty should be null and void, and a section which would have amended article 50 of the constitution by deleting reference to the treaty.

NO CHANGE

The bill as a whole was going through committee after second reading in the senate.

President Eamon de Valera at the outset of to-day's proceedings informed the senate the Free State government had not changed its attitude toward the bill and he saw no reason why the Senate should not proceed with the measure.

Mr. de Valera made his statement in reply to a suggestion the senate should adjourn in view of the negotiations being carried on between the British and Free State governments. The negotiations were started yesterday and are to be continued on Friday. The President also said his government would not accept an amendment providing the Oath Removal Act should not come into force until an agreement had been reached between the two governments.

Volunteers and Forestry Department Groups Struggle With Outbreak in Fort William District of Western Ontario

NO SIGN OF RAIN AS BATTLE GOES ON

Settlers' Homes in Mistassini Region of Quebec Destroyed; Big Fires Near Lake St. John

Toronto, June 8.—Residents of northwestern Ontario and Quebec were battling against heavy odds to-day in their fight to extinguish forest fires which were playing havoc with rich northern bushlands.

Outbreaks in far western districts of Ontario and the Chicomitimi and Lake St. John regions of Quebec were causing the greatest concern as small towns and villages lay in the direct paths of the unchecked flames.

With no immediate sign of rain, volunteers and the regular contingent of fire fighters in the head of the Lakes District have been battling day and night in efforts to quell the flames, gradually eating their way toward villages.

Reports from McKenzie Beach, a summer resort, eighteen miles from Fort William, stated cottages of the district were in the path of the fire.

A roaring wall of fire was moving through the woods about Mistassini and Lake St. John, Quebec. Fire fighters were struggling with canvas buckets and gasoline pumps. The fires were being whipped along by a strong wind.

SETTLERS' HOMES BURNED

Numerous settlers' homes had been destroyed by the rapidly-spreading flames in the Lake Mistassini district. Reports from the region bounding Lake St. John, where 800 men were battling the blaze, stated settlers were being driven from their homes by fires which were being whipped along by a strong wind.

Men of the districts were nearly all at work in the fire lines, fighting with little food and sleep.

New York, June 8.—Dust clouds of the bonus trek to the front doorstep of the United States Capitol shaped to-day into a question mark of ugly import:

"Where are to-morrow's meals coming from?"

Seven thousand lads who rolled to the helms in war and slid to the depths with the turn of the economic cycle, "sat tight" in Washington after parading on broken soles and in tattered clothes yesterday evening.

Across the land unnumbered others hastened to the capital to add weight of their numbers to the plea for immediate payment of $2,000,000,000 on adjusted service certificates.

COUNCIL AND MAYOR TILT

Six Seattle Aldermen Slow With Approval Called "Public Enemies"

Mayor Dore Insists on Appointments to Works Board on Economy Basis

Seattle, June 8.—The perennial battle between Seattle's city council and its mayor was renewed to-day.

John F. Dore, who took office Monday as the new executive, branded six of the nine councilmen as "public enemies" because of the council's delay in approving his appointments to the board of public works.

The six included Roy Melner and Frank P. Fitts, elected last March as supporters of the mayor.

The council decided yesterday to refer the appointments to the efficiency committee for "investigation."

The mayor asked "all good citizens" to call on these men and demand of them that the mayor be allowed to place on the board of public works men, who will immediately put his economy programme into force and effect.

Seattle firemen will ballot tomorrow to elect a chief, a departure from custom. In past years the mayor usually named the chief.

COMPANIES IN CHILE THREE

One to Handle Industries, One Farming and One Mining, Says Junta

Associated Press
Santiago, Chile, June 8.—Persistent reports of internal dissension among the members of the Socialist Junta that seized power in Chile were flatly denied to-day by Carlos Davila, the Junta's head, in an interview with the Associated Press.

He also denied widespread rumors that he had threatened to resign from the governmental group, and insisted there was no unrest or a counter-revolutionary movement in the southern provinces.

Senor Davila predicted that within a month there would not be a single man in Chile who would not have a job.

"We will create three state companies," he said, "one for agriculture, one for industries and one for mining."

"We will impose on the fortunes of the rich and those who have big incomes sufficient taxes to bring in the money we need for this purpose. They will help provide living and happiness for those people who have been trod on and kept down by the selfish money class."

British Cotton Leader Visiting Canada Speaks of Empire Economic Conference

Canadian Press
Quebec, June 8.—Great Britain, as we conceive the position, is wing and anxious to make whatever sacrifices are involved, but our statesmen will only be able to do so if the countervailing advantages are such as to justify the policy," was the way John H. Grey, chairman of the Cotton Spinners' and Manufacturers' Association, defined Britain's policy respecting the Imperial Economic Conference to the Canadian Press to-day.

Accompanied by leaders in the British cotton industry, Mr. Grey arrived here to-day aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Australia.

"It seems to us," he added, "that facilities which the British government is now disposed to grant to Canadian products in the British market, the largest import market in the world, are capable of contributing enormously to future stability and growth of this great Dominion."

Mr. Grey said he and his colleagues would discuss phases of the cotton industry with the Canadian manufacturers.

Special to The Times
Nanaimo, June 8.—Judge Barker yesterday upheld the decision of Magistrate Beavor Potts in the appeal case of C. Marsh, secretary of Harewood Community Hall. The appeal arose out of a charge against district dance hall, permitting dances to be held after midnight on Saturday, March 26, after being warned by the Attorney-General's Department that operating of dance halls after Saturday midnight was in contravention of the Lord's Day Act.

Accused stated they operated to make a test case. Evidence was given by Constable Jacklin and Sergt. Russell. F. C. Cunliffe prosecuted. T. P. Morton defended.

The barn of W. O. Richards, Oyster district, was yesterday completely destroyed by fire. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

EXPENDITURE CUTS ARE URGED

Canadian Manufacturers' Association Suggests Dominion Conference

Canadian Press
Ottawa, June 8.—Recommending the Dominion provinces and municipalities should get together in order to reach an understanding respecting fields of taxation, and thus avoid duplication, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, at a brief session this afternoon, passed resolutions dealing with taxation and also unemployment.

The resolution dealing with taxation called on the association to operate by asking members and employees, as well as the public throughout Canada, to refrain from asking for public expenditures except those immediately necessary.

It urged members to assist their provincial and municipal governments in curtailing expenditures, thereby lessening the burden on the taxpayers. This would release large sums for use in agriculture and other basic industries.

The resolution was moved by F. C. Brown, Vancouver.

Mr. Brown also moved a resolution on unemployment urging co-operation in reducing unemployment by co-operation in land settlement and supported controlled relief for those who cannot get work.

BEATEN IN DARK

After the attack on Bernard, the gunman forced the victim to the bank office. The light and telephone wires had been cut, and by the use of a flashlight, Marie set to work on the combination dial of the bank vault. The flashlight suddenly failed, and went out as the battery failed. In the darkness of the office, the bandit reached for the girl and beat her until she was unconscious.

When the recovered consciousness came time later, she crawled to the open door of the bank and villagers and police responded to her cries for help. While doctors, hastily summoned, gave their attention to the dying man and his daughter, police and villagers started a man-hunt that rapidly spread over the entire district.

Associated Press
Paris, June 8.—Louis Germaine-Martin, Minister of Finance, to-day said France was confronted with a serious financial situation and probably the 1932 budget deficit would be between 6,000,000,000 and 7,000,000,000 francs.

He called attention to the probability that Germany would not resume reparations payments when the Hoover moratorium expires, and the drastic measure intended to introduce a measure for major reduction of expenditures and reorganization of administrative services.

Premier Edouard Herriot faced the Lausanne conference on war debts and reparations to-day with a clear-cut mandate to represent France, acquired when he was given a smashing vote of confidence yesterday evening in the Chamber of Deputies.

The Premier said the proposal would be discussed with the cabinet before any decision was reached.

Most of the time of the conference was taken up with discussing the federal land settlement scheme for unemployed.

The Dominion Government, it was stated, had passed an appropriation of $172,000, which would have to be equalled by the province and municipalities, making a total of $344,000. This would provide for assisting 860 settlers, who would receive $600 each on the basis of a third share contributed by the Dominion, province and municipality, each contributing $200.

Mr. Pascall told a Times representative this morning that Great Britain was feeling some improvement in business conditions.

"When British went off the gold standard an unnatural condition of things was at once terminated," he said. "Relief was felt almost immediately. Everyone at the time thought the country was going to do the impossible, but it was evident there could be no return to normal prosperity by following the traditional policy of industry."

"Britain was faced by two evils—the world depression and her own financial troubles. But the British government, by taking the drastic action that it did, got rid of the financial difficulty which had placed her at such a disadvantage," he said.

NOTED INDUSTRIALIST

Mr. Pascall is one of the industrial leaders of Great Britain, being the chairman and managing director of the P. & O. Ltd. of London, a famous high class candy manufacturer. His firm employs a staff of over 3,000 people.

Mr. Pascall is the first British president of Rotary International. Since he started out from England on his world tour he has been greeted by and has addressed Rotarians at many points.

Immediately following his arrival this morning, Mr. Pascall and party visited the Government House and were entertained by Lieutenant-General and Mrs. J. W. Fordham Johnson.

Lord Brentford became a front rank cabinet minister following the success of the Conservative Party in the 1924 election. His handling, with Rt. Hon. Two years later he became the parliamentary spokesman of the strong Evangelical opposition to the reviewed Book of Common Prayer.

He raised the seventeenth and twenty-third Battalions of the Middlesex Regiment during the Great War.

BACK IN LONDON

London, June 8.—Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Dominions Secretary, and Lord Hallahan, Secretary for War, returned to-day from Dublin, where they conferred yesterday with President Eamon de Valera and James Geoghegan, Free State Minister of Justice.

Neither would discuss yesterday's conversations, which were ostensibly for the purpose of ironing out difficulties between this country and the Free State, which threatened to render representation of the latter at the Ottawa Imperial Economic Conference difficult.

DETAILS KEPT SECRET

While there was no official intimation of the Free State Government's bill to abolish the parliamentary oath of allegiance to the King or its avowed intention of withholding from the British treasury $3,000,000 in land annuities, observers must of the opinion both sides must of necessity have been considered.

Further conversations will be held between the two governments on Friday, when Mr. de Valera and Mr. Geoghegan will come to London to repay yesterday's visit by the British representatives.

NEW TREATY SUGGESTED

London, June 8.—The London Morning Post to-day published a dispatch from Dublin saying President Eamon de Valera's attitude at yesterday's conference with Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Dominions Secretary, and Lord Hallahan, Secretary for War, was wished to negotiate a new Anglo-Irish treaty amending that of 1921.

The newspaper said it understood Mr. de Valera had introduced a bill of Ireland's participation and declared his willingness to make considerable sacrifices to achieve political unity of Northern Ireland with the Free State.

It added the cautious attitude of Mr. Thomas and Lord Hallahan had given the President the impression that his object was to hear what the British Cabinet had to say.

The newspaper did not indicate the source of its information.

NO DECISION REACHED

Several other London papers pressed to know something of what took place at the discussion, despite the veil of secrecy drawn over the proceedings by officials of both sides.

The Daily Telegraph published a story from its Dublin correspondent agreeing in substance with that of The Morning Post, but added no decision had been reached and that no decision had been adjourned till Friday.

The Daily Herald described the situation as having reached a deadlock, saying the Free State Government's view was that settlement of differences could be reached only with recognition by Great Britain of its right to do as it wished with the bill to abolish the parliamentary oath of allegiance to the King and with the $3,000,000 in land annuities formerly payable to the British treasury. Should this right be conceded, it added, the Free State might modify any actual demands it might make.

The Times, on the other hand, said it understood yesterday's discussions had moved along very general lines and that nothing had been said by either side which might prejudice the full and frank conversation expected to take place when the conference is resumed in London on Friday.

An official communique issued at the end of yesterday's conference in Dublin made no specific reference to the subjects considered. It recorded merely a preliminary exchange of views which will be followed by a discussion in London on Friday, as already arranged.

Mr. Thomas steadfastly refused to discuss the meeting with newspapermen.

Canadian Manufacturers' Association Suggests Dominion Conference

Canadian Press
Ottawa, June 8.—Recommending the Dominion provinces and municipalities should get together in order to reach an understanding respecting fields of taxation, and thus avoid duplication, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, at a brief session this afternoon, passed resolutions dealing with taxation and also unemployment.

The resolution dealing with taxation called on the association to operate by asking members and employees, as well as the public throughout Canada, to refrain from asking for public expenditures except those immediately necessary.

It urged members to assist their provincial and municipal governments in curtailing expenditures, thereby lessening the burden on the taxpayers. This would release large sums for use in agriculture and other basic industries.

The resolution was moved by F. C. Brown, Vancouver.

Mr. Brown also moved a resolution on unemployment urging co-operation in reducing unemployment by co-operation in land settlement and supported controlled relief for those who cannot get work.

THUG SLAYS QUEBEC MAN

After the attack on Bernard, the gunman forced the victim to the bank office. The light and telephone wires had been cut, and by the use of a flashlight, Marie set to work on the combination dial of the bank vault. The flashlight suddenly failed, and went out as the battery failed. In the darkness of the office, the bandit reached for the girl and beat her until she was unconscious.

When the recovered consciousness came time later, she crawled to the open door of the bank and villagers and police responded to her cries for help. While doctors, hastily summoned, gave their attention to the dying man and his daughter, police and villagers started a man-hunt that rapidly spread over the entire district.

FEAR PENSIONS WILL BE TAXED

Duncan Branch of Legion Files Protest With Government

Duncan, June 8.—Unemployment figured largely in the discussion during general business of the Canadian Legion meeting Monday evening. The meeting approved the suggestion that the executive appoint an active unemployment committee for the benefit of likely employers of returned men. A roster of ex-service men would be prepared and citizens would be urged to "find a job" for a day or longer. As one member pointed out, the question was getting very serious, and a day's work might possibly be the difference between life and death now to a returned man. Unemployment will be the cure for the situation now arising, and employers, it was said, would do well to bear in mind that employment of Orientals would not assist.

Whereas, naval and military pensions (except disability pensions) have been definitely rated as taxable income in this province under the Income Tax Act of 1932.

"And whereas, officials of the agencies in London, Eng., of the British Columbia government and the government of the Dominion of Canada respectively represented to ex-service men as an inducement to settle in British Columbia that their pensions were not taxable in the province. "Therefore, be it resolved that the Canadian Legion is opposed to the taxation of all naval and military pensions on the ground that pensions are over-age living allowances for services rendered in the defence of the Empire, and further we strongly protest against the government breaking faith with Imperial ex-service men, who settled in British Columbia after receiving assurances that their pensions would be exempt from taxation.

SCHOOLBOY IS CRITICALLY HURT

Detroit, June 1.—A nine-year-old schoolboy accidentally shot and probably fatally wounded a schoolmate and injured himself slightly yesterday when a revolver, brought to school by another youth, was discharged in a classroom of the St. Francis Parochial School.

Joseph Koneski, seven, was wounded in the abdomen and probably will die, and Arthur Fedirk, nine, was shot in the hand as the gun went off when he drew it from inside his shirt.

Fedirk at first blamed the shooting on Joseph Savicki Jr., eight, who admitted he had brought the gun to school, but witnesses said Fedirk had the gun when the accident occurred.

OKANAGAN CROP OUTLOOK FINE

Kelowna Syndicate For Wine Manufacture Formed, Says Hon. J. W. Jones

Million Boxes More Apples This Year Than Last, Making Output Four Million

Excellent crop prospects prevail throughout the Okanagan, stated Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, on his return from a ten-day visit to his home city of Kelowna.

Apples will be 1,000,000 boxes more than last year, with a yield of 4,000,000 boxes. Market prospects are also good. Export contracts have opened on a higher basis than for several years past, with prices ranging from $1.35 to $1.50 a box. A good export trade will be of tremendous assistance in solving the market situation, he said.

One of the most hopeful developments toward the utilization of waste, said Mr. Jones, is the formation of a syndicate in Kelowna for manufacture of wines. Demonstrations with 100 tons of cull apples last year proved that with the juice of these apples as a base it is possible to produce eminently pal-stable wines of a variety of types. He mentioned sherry, sauterne and burgundy.

W. E. Bennett and P. Capozzi, two leading Kelowna merchants, and a group of others have formed a syndicate and brought an expert from Northern Italy, under whose direction the wines have been manufactured by what is known as the Monti process. After the juice has been extracted the remainder of the product is made into jams and jellies and apple butter of excellent quality, said Mr. Jones.

The syndicate plans to process 1,000 tons this year and are approaching the liquor boards of British Columbia, Alberta and other provinces with a view to obtaining sale contracts.

In the northern part of the valley, Mr. Jones said, the hay and grain crops were in finer condition than he had ever seen them. All through the valley the creeks are high, the dams are full and there have been plenty of local showers, so that the supply of water is assured for the entire season.

BEAVERBROOK IN NEW YORK

New York, June 8.—Lord Beaverbrook, British newspaper proprietor, today said he thought it extremely likely United States would be willing to cancel war debts in consideration of disarmament in Europe, but he added that Europe, and especially France, would never disarm.

His comment on war debts and disarmament was inspired by an editorial printed in The London Evening Standard, one of his papers.

NATIONALISM GROWTH SCORED

P. R. Bengough, Back From Geneva Labor Conference, Speaks in Vancouver

Canadian Press
Vancouver, June 8.—The world is too national in outlook, there is too much construction of tariff walls and too much "buy at home" campaigning, according to P. R. Bengough, general secretary of the Vancouver and New Westminster District Trades and Labor Council. Mr. Bengough, who recently returned from the International Labor Conference at Geneva, reported to the delegates at a meeting yesterday evening.

After giving an outline of the establishment of the League of Nations Labor Conference, he declared he was satisfied it had done a great deal of good. The solution of the world difficulties, he said, now rested on whether labor would keep its head and its organization. Only through this could better times be brought about.

He stated he had been surprised when he reached Geneva to learn Canada's position with regard to legislation suggested by the international labor conference of Geneva. He had gone thinking Canada was well in the forefront in these matters. He found it was closer to the back row. Canada had adopted but four of the recommendations, he said. Next came South Africa with three, then China with three and Liberia with one. All other countries party to the League, and the conference had each done better than Canada.

There was a lot of work yet to be done in this country to bring it into line, he said. Among the reasons which had militated against greater progress in adoption of international labor conditions as suggested by the League was the fact that some provincial governments legislate in Canada partially covered the recommendations. Such legislation, he said, was not so binding as an international agreement would be.

He had found, he said, that the general condition throughout the world had not improved. In the British Isles he had arrived to hear there had been a reduction in the cost of living, but in fact it had not been so. The answer was that the Coalition Government had gone over the rolls and struck off some 385,000 names.

His party had gone across the Atlantic on a ship that was making its last voyage, being set aside to join the great fleet of the idle tonnage in British ports when the trip was completed.

The result of the fever of buy-at-home campaigns everywhere was a very serious depression of transportation business, he said.

Everywhere he had found wage slashing, breaking down of existing conditions and standards and talk of repelling social legislation. He said. Money was being refused schools and universities. While the governments recognized the fact that there was little or no international trade, they were choking national business by cutting wages, slashing conditions and adding generally to the depression, he said. A greater space was developing between producers and consumers, and there would be, in his opinion, no relief until a more equitable system of distribution was worked out. At present countries were eating into themselves.

ITALY'S POSITION
Italy, which had been able through Fascism to set up its ideal, eliminating labor organization entirely, now found itself with its purchasing power low, its wages cut, its 25 per cent of what they once were, and a situation of unemployment problem, because it could not sell its goods. Wage cutting in one country had been an inducement to other countries to cut, setting up a vicious circle of emulation, he said.

During the general business of the meeting the delegates approved a recommendation of the executive that a mass meeting be held in the central hall at labor headquarters on the evening of June 15 to discuss unemployment in general and the action the council had taken or would take in this matter.

A resolution that relief be paid out on basis of the cost of living was set out on the official Labor Gazette and adopted and will be forwarded to Ottawa.

FORESEES WAVE OF REVOLUTIONS

Associated Press
La Paz, Bolivia, June 8.—Possibility of a wave of socialist revolutions in South America from Patagonia to the Panama Canal was foreseen as a result of the recent Chilean coup in an editorial today in Ultima Hora, leading afternoon newspaper here.

The editorial said the capitalist system has "demonstrated a complete incapacity to solve the problems of the present."

"But more than that," it continued, "the system lacks the vision to examine the new face of the world."

"It will not be long—this is the general opinion—that reality will soon confirm—before Peru and Argentina experience revolutionary movements of the same nature as Chile has just undergone. And this will extend to Bolivia and the other countries of Latin-America."

New York, June 8.—The federal government collected $4,089.50 today for about as odd an assortment of miscellaneous as ever was collected under one roof.

It was an auction of unclaimed articles held in the post office. The auctioneers knocked down an odd assortment of articles, including a used hook, a bull head (used to guide a bull), a shovel and a mop, all for $3.

L. P. RHINELANDER IN HALIFAX COURT

Asks Award of $6,000 in Suit on Insurance; House Burned

Canadian Press
Halifax, June 8.—Leonard Kip Rhinelanders sat in court here yesterday reading a newspaper as lawyers advanced and disputed his claim to $6,000 insurance money. The son of one of New York's old knickerbocker families appeared before the proceedings. It was not his first appearance in court. In 1928 his name was prominent as the complainant in a much-publicized divorce suit. According to his representatives, the present case is an indirect outgrowth of the first.

Rhinelanders brought the suit, seeking $6,000 from W. J. Mont of Halifax, claiming Mont collected that amount in insurance after the bungalow to which Rhinelanders fled from publicity had burned down. Hon. J. A. Chisholm, Chief Justice of Nova Scotia, reserved decision.

Leon Jacobs, New York lawyer, who was the complainant's chief witness, told Rhinelanders' coming to Halifax under the name of Lou Russell Jacobs had become acquainted with Mont, he said, and had sued him as a medium through which to send money to his client.

Rhinelanders had secured a piece of land at Scargy Lake from the Department of Lands and Forests through Mont, and later a house had been constructed. Rhinelanders had lived there from May, 1928, until January, 1929, when the house burned and he left for Nevada.

He had asked Mont to insure the house for $5,000 and the furnishings for $1,000, said Jacobs. This had been done, and after the fire he had learned the money had been paid to Mont. He Jacobs, had written, asking for the policy, so he might sue the insurance company. He had so written, he claimed, in the hope Mont would then turn over the money.

Saskatchewan Bright On Crop Outlook

Regina, June 8.—With his crop grows the hope of the Saskatchewan farmer. Saskatchewan today is a far brighter province than two months ago with present indications pointing to excellent wheat production this season.

Soil-tillers throughout the province are encouraged in the hope that harvest time will find sufficient money to carry on independent of government relief.

Government officials say one good crop will make this possible. One good crop will disperse the cloud of poverty which so long has enveloped the farm lands of Saskatchewan. One good crop will relieve Saskatchewan people of the tremendous burden they have been forced to share in the effort to support $78,000 people affected by drought, which in many districts has ruined three successive crops.

Through it all the farmer is hopeful, happy in the thought of what a crop will bring him. Even when forced to appeal for food, clothing, fuel and fodder the farmer would not admit defeat.

E. B. Daniels, commissioner of relief, is high in his praise for the spirit of the farmer. Men owning vast tracts of land but at present without a cent of cash have come to the relief commission, Mr. Daniels said, and have accepted help only in the nature of a loan. They'll pay back everything they owe, Mr. Daniels said. "They are not dispirited and have faith in each succeeding crop."

From impressions gathered while interviewing men applying for relief, Mr. Daniels believes the farmer never again will be caught under similar circumstances. Men have told him they lost in the Meadow Lake district after a great deal in stock speculation and speculative farming. Now, Mr. Daniels is convinced, the farmer will not be looking toward big returns and will be content to make a comfortable living for his family.

Even with grain prices down to today's low level the farmers expect to make sufficient money this year to re-establish their farms. The commission thinks stricter economies will be practised by the farmer and farms will be more secure.

There was so little feed in the province during the winter that 12,500 railway carloads had to be brought in from the neighboring provinces, he said. But in future, fodder sufficient to supply the farmer's Individual needs probably will be produced by the farmer himself.

Another measure of economy is the return to horse-power on the farms, due to the high cost of gasoline and oil here. Possible shortage of horses with a subsequent revival in Western Canada of horse-breeding is predicted by government agricultural men.

Through all their difficulties the farmers have never lost their morale. Even to the far north where some 2,800 families are re-establishing themselves in the Meadow Lake district after drought and sweeping winds had forced them to desert their farms in the south, there is no talk of quitting. The Saskatchewan farmer has taken his hard-times medicine like a man—and is looking for it to do him good.

ROCKEFELLER TURNS

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER JR., AN EARNest champion of prohibition forces, has come out for repeal of the prohibition law in the United States. To the "dry" forces the news is literally startling; to the "wets" it presages an early victory. To those familiar with the Rockefeller stand on social issues, it comes, at least with surprise. The Rockefellers have been the largest individual contributors to the coffers of the Anti-Saloon League.

Mr. Rockefeller on Monday made known his change of conviction by means of a letter to Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, who is a leader of the repeal forces. In it he said he had come to the conclusion that the benefits of the abolition of the saloon in United States have been more than outweighed by the evils which have developed. He fears that these evils, if not promptly checked, will lead to conditions "unbearably worse than they were before prohibition." He had hoped that the Eighteenth Amendment would be generally supported by public opinion and the cause of temperance advanced.

"That this has not been the result," he wrote, "but rather that drinking generally has increased; that the speakeasy has replaced the saloon, not only unit for unit, but probably two-fold; if not three-fold; that a vast army of lawbreakers has been recruited and financed on a colossal scale; that many of our best citizens, piqued at what they regard as an infringement of their private rights, have openly and unabashedly disregarded the Eighteenth Amendment; that as an inevitable result, respect for all law has been greatly lessened; that crime has increased to an unprecedented degree—I have slowly and reluctantly come to believe."

The steps to repeal of the "noble experiment" proposed by Mr. Rockefeller are by way of adoption by both political parties of the suggestion of Dr. Butler for a re-submission plank in both party platforms. This would remove the prohibition issue from the presidential campaign.

The addition of Mr. Rockefeller and his influence means a tremendous gain in momentum for the repeal forces. They have unmistakably been advancing in every quarter. Only last week Illinois Republicans broke away from the "dry" platform of their national party with its support of prohibition, national and state. They called for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. They were followed in this action by the Republicans of New Jersey. Incidents such as these show the trend within party lines. They indicate the way is opening in the "dry" Republican organization for the adoption of a plank such as suggested by Dr. Butler and Mr. Rockefeller.

ANOTHER FREE COUNTRY GOES WRONG

ANOTHER COUNTRY HAS JOINED the company of troubled lands. Established in Africa as a haven for slaves, political power in what was to have been the ideal republic of Liberia, where liberty, equality and fraternity were to have flourished forever for the black man, untroubled by any whites, has gone the way of political power in many white countries. It has concentrated itself in the hands of the few with the genius to seize it.

In the case of Liberia no individual Mussolini or Stalin has yet arisen, but it is a small junta of super-negroes who have assumed the dictatorial function. The complaint now is that these super-negro rulers in their dealings with their black republican brethren have followed the vices, but not the virtues, of the former white rulers. They are said to be ruling the native population with the same cruelty and injustice practiced by the white Europeans in other parts of Africa. The Liberian "militia," as the instrument of the junta in power, has been ravaging the country and its wholesale slaughter of the natives recalls the days of the Belgian Congo atrocities before the war.

All this means one more job for an already too much harried League of Nations. The harrowing nature of the reports have forced it to the fore on the crowded agenda of the League, and it has reached the point where the Cecil committee has drawn up a scheme for an international conference on the Liberian problem. It is just another "free" country gone wrong—and one more international conference.

A NEIGHBORLY TRIBUTE

CONFERRING OF THE DEGREE OF
Doctor of Laws upon Hon. S. F. Tolmie by the College of Puget Sound, State College of Washington, was the highest tribute within the institution's power to one who holds the office of Premier of British Columbia.

It was also a tribute to the recipient and the family name he bears in its association with the history of the Pacific Northwest running back to its earliest days. In his address at the college, the Premier was in the unique position of being able to recall that his father had visited Washington ninety-nine years ago, when what is now a great state with populous cities and all the advanced accessories of modern civilization was a primeval wilderness. It is impossible for one to go much further back than that in this new country.

The Premier's degree is also, as he himself generously suggested, a friendly gesture on the part of one great state to its neighbor province. Side by side the two have guided and shared the development of the area which to the Premier's father was only a wilderness.

In addition, we hasten to point out before the Premier himself makes use of it, that this new doctorate also is a tribute to the eminence of being a double-barrelled doctor.

WHERE WERE THE REDS?

EASTERN CANADIAN NEWSPAPERS are asking where all the "Reds" and Communists are who were to have swamped the polls at the recent provincial election in West York.

Before election day, The Globe and The Evening Telegram of Toronto had it that there were thousands of this element, literally ready to rise and destroy Toronto and the Empire.

When the votes were counted on election day, the Socialist, who was the "Red" candidate in the field, showed up with only 100 votes. The combined vote of the Conservative, Liberal and Labor candidate was more than 12,000.

Only 100 "Reds" in 12,000 voters in a disaffected constituency? Canadians even in the worst of times are not Communists.

THE WEB

IN THESE DAYS OF TARIFF ABERRA-
tions, one can never tell where a measure of trade restriction will end. For instance, the move to protect cream producers in the New England states from Canadian imports, started a chain of events which extends to the other side of the earth and back again. The main moves were recently traced by a speaker in Washington, D.C., when he said:

It is recalled that the United States first raised the duty on milk and cream. This caused Canadian farmers to produce more butter. But in so doing they were hampered by competition from New Zealand butter in the Canadian market. So Canada shut out New Zealand butter. New Zealand retaliated by abrogating the tariff preferences previously given to Canadian products. That hit the pocketbooks of all sorts of people in Canada, particularly the automobile plants.

Accordingly, what started as a perfectly local issue between the milk farmers of New York, Wisconsin and Canada has run around the world and back again and nobody is satisfied.

Thus, the tariff webs are being spun, constricting more and more the trade of the nations.

ANOTHER HISTORIC MOMENT

LONDON NOT ONLY HEARD THE
tumult of Epsom Downs last week from the radio loudspeakers, but saw the televised finish of the Derby. Baird, the television inventor, stood at the side of the stage of the theatre where a thousand persons were convinced of the practicability of television.

It is reported that the images of the silhouettes as they flashed across the stage were blurred and dim. Yet the feat, presenting the victory of "April the Fifth," is rated of historic importance, comparable with Morse's first telegraphed phrase "What hath God wrought." Bell's first telephone message, "Mr. Watson, please come here, I want you," or Edison's "Mary had a little lamb," the first words spoken into a phonograph.

Judged by the rapidity of the progress made by those inventions after their first demonstrations, the time is getting close when television will be the companion of radio in bringing the world of sight as well as sound to our homes.

EMPIRE TRADE ACHIEVEMENT

HOW EMPIRE PREFERENCES ARE even more important than tariff preferences is demonstrated in the list of recent achievements of the Empire Marketing Board in Britain as follows:

1. More than 1,200 British institutions, including scores of Borough and County Councils, are now following the rule "Empire First" in the purchase of supplies.
2. The London County Council, one of the largest bulk purchasers in the world, providing for 100,000 hospital patients and 800,000 teachers, students and children, is now restricting its purchases exclusively to empire goods.
3. Out of 1,400,000 pounds of apples consumed in Britain last year, 1,100,000 pounds were from empire sources.
4. British Columbia timber is now being used for harbor works at Belfast, Grimsby, Plymouth and Southampton, and for housing schemes at Glasgow, Liverpool, London and Coventry.
5. Empire timbers, chiefly Canadian-grown Douglas fir, have been used exclusively in forty-five out of forty-seven important works undertaken by the London County Council in the past two years.

Intelligent propaganda and sales efficiency, working on a basis of common loyalties and good-will, are credited with this impressive record. Preferential trading within the empire is not dependent solely on tariffs and treaties.

Marriages in Victoria are showing a heavy drop in number below the ten-year average, the city health officer reports. And this is leap year!

The Saskatchewan Liquor Board announces the closing of seventy-three liquor stores. Another prairie drought.

That Coldwater Valley rancher who has evolved that hybrid contraption, the horse-drawn automobile, will be lucky if Finance Minister Jones does not come back at him in two places for beating the gas tax by making him buy two licence plates, one for the car and one for the horse.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

CANADA'S FARTHEST SOUTH.
Canada Week by Week

It is not generally realized that the most southerly point in Canada is as far south as the northern boundary of California. This point is Pelee Island, in Lake Erie, situated about forty-five miles southeast of the city of Detroit and about the same distance from Windsor, Ont. The southern limit of Canada are wholly farther south than eleven of the States of the United States and south of part of eight other states. Moreover, the greater part of Europe is north of Canada's "farthest south" in about the same latitude as Rome, Italy, and the northern fringe of Portugal.

The states which are farther north than part of Canada are Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington, and those which are partly north are Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Iowa, Nebraska and Wyoming. It is commonly believed that the forty-ninth parallel of latitude forms the boundary line between the whole of Canada and the United States. As a matter of fact it forms the boundary of only the four western provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, with the exception of the southern part of Vancouver Island. The provinces of Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, are entirely south of the 49th parallel, as are also the most populous areas of Quebec and Ontario.

A THOUGHT

In my Father's house are many mansions.—John 14:2
Dreams cannot picture a world so fair.—Mrs. Hemans.

Loose Ends

Mr. Pudbury cuts the hay as his fathers have done—a typical elector discusses the political situation with ripe wisdom—and a great treat is in store for Nipper.

By H. B. W.

OUTSIDE MY WINDOW to-day George Pudbury is scything down the first hay. He is the finest hand with a scythe in this country for he was bred to it from boyhood in the fields of Devon. As he swings his scythe across the tall grass, with a soft "whoosh," his tall grass, with a soft "whoosh," his movement is a poetry of motion; but you hardly realize the poetry of it when it is clothed in Mr. Pudbury's under-shirt, blue overalls and that battered sun helmet which is his only souvenir of service with the imperial army in India. (As I once told you before, his sun helmet was battered by the impact of a great idea within it, or pressure from without when Mrs. Pudbury sat on it, which seems more likely.) Anyway, poetically or in prose, Mr. Pudbury is scything down the hay in long arcs, and the scythe is largely a circular sweep. The hay is being done in Devon since the Conquest.

THERE IS SOMETHING cheering about the spectacle of Mr. Pudbury working there, not only to those who are interested in the survival of the ancient arts of our fathers, but to the cold-blooded economists of modern times as well. For Mr. Pudbury's progress with the scythe is largely a progress of civilization in the last thirty years. When he was a boy in Devon all reaping was done by hand. He used to go out with his father at dawn on the first day of the reaping season and remain in the fields for weeks until all the reaping had been finished. They reaped until it was too dark to see, and then they lay down to sleep on a pile of hay. They lived almost entirely on bread and cheese and cider, and they received four shillings for every acre of hay they cut. On a long day a man could cut two acres. If he were an extra good man. All this is encouraging, I say, because, had as things are now, they are nothing like that. Mr. Pudbury sleeps in a good bed and reads the paper in the evening. He has the supreme delight of all free citizens, liberty and leisure. He grumbles over the way the country is going to the dogs. It seems that we are moving forward after all.

AS I HAVE frequently told you before, I take a devilish and dishonorable delight in talking to strange people on matters which they don't know anything about, just to see how the public mind is functioning. The other day I captured a prize specimen. He was a homo sapiens, a truly remarkable exhibit of the electoral species. He was going out my way and I gave him a lift. As usual, I said I was a stranger in this country, and piled him with idiotic questions concerning the issues of the day and feigned an ignorance of politics which even he must have considered appalling. To my surprise, therefore, this typical elector made, as accurately as I can remember it, the following statement: "Yeah, what we got to do is take more interest in politics in this country. Now, you take the King Government. It come in in Ottawa just before the end of the war. There was a fellow named Bowser—before that, but Bowser, he seen what was coming and he got out. They give him a knighthood or made him a duke or something after that. He was a big guy. Then there was a man named Oliver he seemed to do with it, but I'm not sure, and another guy named Meighen. And this fellow Meighen and another guy named Borden fixed up a government together and called it a Union Government, but I never seen anything union about it, and I never seen anything union about it, after Mackenzie King got in things was pretty good and nobody heard much about Bowser for a long time."

BUT BENNETT, he ain't been in office long before you begin to hear a lot about a fellow named Beauharnois. It seems like he's got all the money. But there was enough left to fix up a swell house down in the chateau there in the east for Bennett. I never knew they had chateaus down there, but it seems so. Anyway, he had fifteen rooms in it, but what he wanted fifteen rooms for I don't know. He say this country's going to pay all the expenses of the guys that go to a big conference down there in Ottawa in July, so I guess the fifteen rooms is to put them in, but if there's more than fifteen of 'em I s'pose the chateau won't hold 'em and they'll have to go to hotel or sleep in the hall. That'll be just too bad. But after a while things got so bad down there they call in a guy named Jones. Jones, he's got a prairie ranch up in the Okanagan, but it seems he can hang on to a dollar alongside anybody. They get that way in the prairie business. They tell him to balance the budget. So Jones, he's there is no money, but he's got a mummy to get it. The meter decides the amount that the city is to get for the water supplied and it is a goodly sum. But one question it has raised is what is the use of the meter and like-wise the reading of it, and all the unnecessary bookkeeping connected with it.

MY OH MY, but they're pretty "though," said the little girl from next door, pressing her face up against my window there until her nose was all white and flat like a piece of putty. "Are they?" said I. "And what color are they?" "Oh, they're mostly brown with green spots and some red stripes on them," she said. This seemed interesting so, having ascertained their color, I thought I had better ascertain their identity and find out what she was talking about. "Who's 'I' are they?" "Why the kittens who's Laura has over at her house," she said, as if everybody knew that. "They got them at the cat hospital, and what 'you s'pose?" When Woolley—that's Laura's big cat—saw them she liked them right away and lay down beside them to make them all cozy and warm. Woolley feeds them their breakfast and dinner, too. She goes out in the field and gathers nice little seeds everywhere, and then she brings them back and puts the seeds in their mouths for them, "cause they can't see a-tall. Little kittens don't open their eyes for three weeks 'cause if they did they might see too much and it wouldn't be good for 'em. But," said she with an air of mystery. "That's not all. Nipper he's going to get some puppies pretty soon. We're going to get him some puppies over at the dog hospital, 'cause Nipper gets his puppies, won't he be 'sprised, though? And we're not going to tell Nipper before we get his puppies, 'cause we want it to be such a treat for him!"

Weather Forecast—Victoria and vicinity—Moderate to fresh southerly and westerly winds, mostly cloudy and cool with showers.

The C.P.R. Company has in contemplation making an auxiliary attraction for tourists on the Cowichan River, near Saanichton.

In order to make Vancouver Island a great hunting and fishing resort, the company is planning to transform a portion of the Cowichan River at that place into a model fishing resort. The arrangements are not yet complete, but will be carried out on an elaborate scale.

In the meeting of the Victoria Tourist Association of Victoria, yesterday afternoon, there was a meeting of the general committee, with Alderman Henderson in the chair, to report progress on the forthcoming exhibition of local agricultural and horticultural produce of the southern part of Vancouver Island at Winnipeg on July 13. It will cost $1,000 in transportation expenses of a representative of the committee to superintend the work of the exhibition by way of securing due care in the transportation of the produce and the most advantageous display at Winnipeg.

The work of the collecting committee of the Victoria Driving Club is being completed, and almost all the money necessary has been already subscribed. The advertising and other details of the forthcoming meet are well in hand.

In the men's and women's open golf championship tournaments, now in progress at the Oak Bay links, under the auspices of the Victoria Golf Club, the finals are rapidly being approached. F. H. Stirling and A. T. Goward were today to play off in the semi-finals of the men's competition, and the winner will oppose J. A. Rithie next week.

THE WATER RATE

To the Editor:—The city is about to raise the price of the service charge from two or more houses are supplied from one meter. This is an extremely astute but after all the income from this great financial improvement will not be much.

But one question it has raised is what is the use of the meter and like-wise the reading of it, and all the unnecessary bookkeeping connected with it.

A service charge is made of $1 per month. That is the chief source of income from dwelling houses and there is no money to be made from mummy to get it. The meter decides the amount that the city is to get for the water supplied and it is a goodly sum.

On going through my accounts I find that some months there is only 30 cents charged for water used in ten months the amount being $3.60.

On another account I find it to be $8.40 for twelve payments. Note this: Twelve accounts rendered for water by the city at $8.40. The other ten accounts rendered to obtain $8.40 worth of water. Of course, I know that the (service charge) as it is euphemistically called, is the chief source of income this being so why the humbug of having the meter? Is its chief use to find a job, for someone to read it?

I understand that in Vancouver the house is on a flat rate. Another gross waste is to have a monthly collection, on account of the exorbitant charge.

In England most of the cities have to construct their reservoirs and lay lines of mains at great expense but my water rate for six months was less than it is here for one month.

EXHIBITION OF MINIATURES

To the Editor:—The very general interest which has been displayed by the citizens of Vancouver in the various special exhibitions already held at the Vancouver Art Gallery has prompted the committee of which I am chairman to take under consideration the idea of a special exhibition of miniatures.

It is probable that some of your readers may have in their possession examples of miniatures which they would be willing to lend. It is planned to devote one of the small galleries to the purpose of this exhibition and to display the miniatures in suitable showcases. Date of opening will be announced later.

The greatest possible care would be taken of any work of art of this kind which is loaned to the gallery. If, therefore, any of your readers would be interested in contributing to the proposed exhibition, the undersigned will appreciate communications by letter addressed to him at the Vancouver Art Gallery, 1145 West Georgia Street.

W. DALTON,
Chairman, Exhibition Committee,
West Georgia Street, Vancouver.

REGISTRATION

To the Editor:—Curious to ascertain whether the men at the government camps are being forgotten by the Tolmie government, I made inquiries to find out if any effort was being made by the enumerators to register these men on the voters' list. At the registration booth on Douglas Street they informed me that no one had been sent out and that no one would be.

These men, deprived of social contact, given only the bare needs of life, are now evidently being deprived of the right to vote. Perhaps the government knows that no man that has been starved into camp could possibly cast a vote for his malefactor.

There are about three hundred single men confined into relief camps in the vicinity of Victoria; told to stay there and behave themselves until conditions improved. Some have been there a year, and are still waiting for the promised property.

I would appreciate knowing whether it is the intention of the authorities to disfranchise these men. Waiting to hear of some action in regard to this matter.

LE MARQUAND RULING FRIDAY

Court of Appeal Asked to Impose Sentence on Blackmailer

The British Columbia Court of Appeal will give judgment on Friday morning in the appeal by the Crown for imposition of a sentence upon J. M. A. LeMarquand, who was convicted on a charge of blackmail at the Spring Assizes, and was allowed liberty by Chief Justice Morrison.

H. W. R. Moore yesterday afternoon reviewed the proceedings of the trial, stating that the Criminal Code provided a penalty of fourteen years. He read the evidence regarding LeMarquand's admission that he had written the letter to the prisoner upon his own recognizance, no such recognizance had in fact been filed, and the prisoner left the court a free man, the same as if found not guilty. Mr. Moore argued that the trial judge had no right to give such a sentence against protests formally registered by Crown counsel.

Mr. Moore reviewed the circumstances of the blackmail letters, and said the case was one where some sentence should be imposed, as blackmailers were highly dangerous to society and very hard to catch.

DEFENCE PLEA

R. A. Wootton, counsel for LeMarquand, argued that the action of the trial judge had been irregular, the prisoner having been released on recognizance, he was liable to come up for judgment at any time he was called. Mr. Justice McPhillips doubted the applicability of the section of the code relied upon by counsel, and Mr. Wootton then appealed to the court to extend clemency similar to that shown by the court below.

The Chief Justice agreed, provided there were sufficient grounds. Mr. Justice McPhillips remarked that the accused appeared to have committed the crime, not merely once on the spur of the moment, but to have pursued the matter. He had had opportunity to repent; but he did not, instead, he went on and accentuated the matter.

SLOT MACHINES

Hearings commenced yesterday in the appeal of R. Hall and others against an order by Magistrate Jay for the destruction of eleven cranky vending machines confiscated from Victoria's merchants after police raids. C. L. Harrison is appearing for the Crown.

Frank Higgins, K.C., for the appellants, argued that the owners of the machines had taken precautions to comply with the law, and should not be caused loss. Storekeepers ignored special instructions on the machines, and allowed tokens issued to be used to purchase goods, which action infringed the law, he claimed.

The court yesterday afternoon re-duped the sentence to be served by Norman R. Elliott to six months instead of eighteen months, and ordered the term to be served by Alfred Gatz be one year instead of two years.

Elliott explained that he had been fighting at Mission with a man who gave him great provocation, the fracas arising from trouble with the appellant's wife. He had been convicted upon a charge of causing bodily harm. The charge against Gatz was stealing an automobile. Appellant stated that he was a motor mechanic, had been working steadily until overtaken by illness. He had a wife and two children, and having secured work had taken the car to transport tools to the job. He had never been in trouble before. The court considered the case exceptional, and allowed the minimum sentence permitted by law, one year, it being commented that the owner of the stolen car had spoken well of the appellant.

A. D. Henry unsuccessfully appealed against a sentence of twelve years for incest, and G. E. Matthews also was unable to obtain any alleviation of his sentence of two years for breaking and entering, theft, and being in possession of burglar's tools.

During his activities at Brentwood Mr. Hope has built up a school on lines of the Old Country public school which has built for itself a fine reputation as an educational institution. Mr. Hope's plans are at present unclouded.

OAK BAY NAMES RELIEF OFFICE

School Trustee J. Vaughan Rob has been appointed relief officer Oak Bay. It was announced this morning by R. F. Blandy, municipal clerk. Mr. Rob will be at the Municipal Hall each morning, except Saturday, at 10:30 o'clock, to deal with applications for relief have been coming steadily in to the municipality.

The council found it necessary to appoint a relief officer following suspension of the Oak Bay First Help Society, which for many years has been carried on by Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Since they retired some months ago applications for relief have been coming steadily in to the municipality.

Brentwood College Headmaster Resigns

With expressions of regret the directors of Brentwood College accepted the resignation of H. P. Hope, the headmaster, which was placed in its hands yesterday. Mr. Hope has been principal of the college since its establishment. He was largely instrumental in the establishment of Brentwood College, and resigned his post as principal of Oak Bay High School 1923 for the office which he has ever since.

During his activities at Brentwood Mr. Hope has built up a school on lines of the Old Country public school which has built for itself a fine reputation as an educational institution. Mr. Hope's plans are at present unclouded.

SMART WEDDING AT CATHEDRAL

Miss Rosemary Genevieve Johnston Becomes Bride of Mr. W. H. Hicks

Christ Church Cathedral was the scene this afternoon of a wedding of much interest to many Victorians when Archdeacon E. P. Laycock united in marriage Rosemary Genevieve, elder daughter of Mrs. G. C. Johnston, of Victoria, and the late Mr. G. C. Johnston, and Mr. Wolfe Hay Hicks of Victoria, eldest son of Mrs. Hicks of Eagle House, South Woodford, Essex, England, and the late Mr. C. S. Hicks.

Given in marriage by Judge P. S. Lampan, the bride wore a handsome gown of very pale pink satin, fashioned with tight-fitting long-sleeved bodice, and with long skirt flaring from the knee-line and touching the floor. A peplum arranged at the waistline and reaching from each side to the back relieved the simplicity of the gown. Her veil was of soft silk tulle and was so arranged as to form a train, while it was held in place on her head with a circlet of orange blossoms. A shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley was carried by the bride. Her adornments were a pearl bar pin, a fine gold chain necklace with pendant of pearls and pearl earrings, all of which had been a gift of the bride's godmother, Mrs. L. A. Genge.

There were five attendants, Miss Margie Fraser, who was maid of honor, Miss Barbara Twigg, Miss Janet Dorie of Chawassan, Miss Kathleen Hall and Miss Cynthia Johnston, sister of the bride, all of whom were dressed alike in frocks of pale pink organdie made with tight-fitting bodices, with cape-effect collars and long skirts flaring from the knees. They were picture perfect in the eyes of the guests. The French flowers they each carried muffs of the pink organdie on which were pinned natural bouquets of pink sweet peas and their shoes were of pink kid. In the retinue of the bridal party were two tiny tots, Ivan Hall and Elaine Hall, children of Mr. and Mrs. Thornley Hall. As page Ivan wore a suit of rosy egg blue satin de velours with a silver shell, while Elaine wore a silver dress, while as flower girl Elaine was dainty in a frock of pale pink kid, wearing a wreath of pink roses, buds and forget-me-nots on her head. She carried a silver basket filled with rosebuds.

The groom was supported by Mr. John Hall, and the ushers were tenant Nelson Jay, Lieutenant W. Porteous, Dr. J. E. Hunter and Messrs. James Auldin, Robin Dunsmyth, Charles May of Corvich, Bert Butler and Basil Hood. Owing to the recent death of the bride's father, Mr. G. C. Johnston, the reception which was to have taken place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. G. C. Johnston, was cancelled, so following the ceremony at the cathedral only the immediate friends and relatives assembled for the reception. The bride's great-aunt, Mrs. E. C. Prior, St. Charles Street, offered congratulations to the bride couple. Mr. and Mrs. Hicks left on the 5.30 boat for the coast, en route for a trip to Mexico. On their return to Vancouver Island they will make their home in Victoria. For traveling the bride wore a two-piece suit of French blue heavy silk crepe, a blouse of very lace and a small close-fitting hat. Among the gifts received by the bride couple were a silver clock, a gift of the staff and employees of the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, of which staff the groom is a member.

QUIET WEDDING AT HIGH NOON

Miss Audrey Payne and Mr. F. C. Pollard Married at Cathedral

At high noon to-day a quiet wedding took place at Christ Church Cathedral when Rev. Hubert St. John Payne, uncle of the bride, united in matrimony Audrey B., eldest daughter of Mr. H. D. Payne of All Bay, Sidney, and the late Mrs. Payne and grand-daughter of Mrs. E. Maude and the late Commander Eustace Maude of Shanghai, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Pollard, Tattersall Drive, Victoria.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a model French gown of oyster satin, fashioned with simplicity. The bodice had long sleeves and was moulded to the figure, while the skirt was full and long, extending at the back to form a court train. She wore a Jean Patou model hat and her only adornments were pearl and diamond earrings. Instead of the conventional bouquet she carried her mother's ivory prayer book. The bride was unattended, and the groom had as best man Reginald Wenman.

Mr. and Mrs. Pollard left later for Vancouver, en route to Toronto, Ontario, where the honeymoon will be spent. They will return to Victoria and will spend a couple of months here prior to sailing for Shanghai, where they will make their home and where the groom is secretary to the Manufacturers' Life Insurance Company.

For traveling the bride chose a frock of Spanish tile colored crepe de Chine with which she wore a beige tailored coat and Norma Shearer model hat. Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding was the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Eustace Maude of Mayne Island. Chapter Plans Bazaar—The last meeting of the Robert Burns McKim Chapter before the summer holidays was held yesterday evening at the headquarters with the regent, Mrs. H. G. Holt, presiding, with an attendance of twenty-two members. Plans for the bazaar to be held next fall were discussed, and a special meeting will be held on Tuesday, June 14, at the home of Mrs. Holt, 303 Michigan Street, when the conveners and officers will make definite arrangements. It was decided to give a monthly subscription of $1 to Child Welfare. It was announced that a display of work by the chapter will be held all next week in a store at the corner of View and Broad Streets. Miss Wallace Thomas was welcomed as a new member. The chapter will be in charge of the Dominion Hotel corner on Alexandra and Rose Day.

The guest pews were marked with a single rose, tied with white ribbon. The wedding marches were played by the organist, Mr. H. Hughes, and as the bridal party entered the church he played "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden." Miss Emma Mutch sang "I Love You Truly" during the signing of the register.

Three numbers were given by the combined efforts of the choir, the orchestra and the organ. They were Gibbons' "O Lord, Increase My Faith," Byrd's "Ave Verum Corpus" and Anon's "Christus Factus Est." All three numbers were exceptionally well handled and were much enjoyed by the appreciative audience.

FIFTY YEARS WEDDED LIFE

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cook of Nanaimo Celebrate Golden Anniversary

Old-time residents of Nanaimo met on Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cook, Five Acres, to celebrate the golden anniversary of their wedding, which took place in Winnipeg fifty years ago.

Shortly after the wedding the newly married couple came to British Columbia and forty-five years ago took up their residence at their present domicile on the Five Acres at which they have resided up to the present time.

After leaving Banff, Mr. and Mrs. Cook came to Nanaimo, since which time Mr. Cook has been employed in the local mine and in recent years has retired at his place of residence, carrying on as a bird fancier and agriculturist, whose fame has extended beyond the boundaries of Nanaimo and district.

During their residence in Nanaimo Mr. and Mrs. Cook have raised a large and affectionate family, which includes Arthur, of Nanaimo; Harry, Nova Scotia; Bert, Vancouver; James, Nanaimo; Clifford, Seattle; Mrs. Dorothy McKay, of Nanaimo; Mrs. Mark Hays, of Seattle; and Mrs. Geo. Devlin, Seattle. Sixteen grandchildren and four great grandchildren are also living to respect and honor their great grandparents.

Monday a family reunion was held at the home on the Five Acres at which all members of the family were present.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

The baby first shows evidences of his strength when, turned over his mother's knee, he rears his heavy head and surveys the universe. This ability progresses rapidly with the healthy child until at four five or six months he can sit for a few moments with his back like a ramrod, visibly overjoyed at his new experience.

Of course this ability is not the same for every baby, but it crops up very early in the strong child and appears much later with the baby whose bony strength is imperfectly developed.

TWO FINGERS

The only encouragement any baby needs to sit erect is that given by his parent's two fingers. Hunched firmly to these, the baby pulls and hauls until he has succeeded in pulling himself up, and there he sits, awfully, but snugly satisfied with himself. This little ceremony can be repeated two or three times a day, and it is all the exercise in sitting up that he needs.

The old-time custom of holding the baby up and then propping him against pillows, so that he had to sit, whether or no, is never to be commended or recommended. Such a method does not in any way develop strength in the baby, or make it easier for him to sit up. And it is obviously a strain upon his back. The baby who is ready to sit up can hardly be kept down, he is straining, red-faced, to find something upon which to lean, so that he can get up. The baby who is content to sit quietly or roll about should be allowed to do so. When nature has given his backbone the strength to support his weight, let him show that strength in no uncertain way.

One of the great mistakes into which all mothers stumble is the practice of fidgeting and urging nature on. The mother believes that if baby has arrived at the age for sitting, then sit up he must whether his head trembles or his back slumps into a letter S. She loses no time, when baby has arrived at the age for walking, in putting him into some silly contrivance, supposedly designed to promote that activity, or else holding him up on his feet to encourage him to take stepping movements. It is helpful, of course, for the mother to know at what ages she may expect baby's various physical activities. My leaflet, "Normal Development up to One Year," is available to any reader who will send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with her request to me in care of this newspaper.

Give the baby an opportunity to move his body freely by keeping him on the floor, in a playpen or in his crib, where he can walk about, but do not harness him into his chair or into any other contrivance where natural activity is inhibited.

NATURE'S METHOD

The baby who lies on the floor will learn to turn over, and if one of his toys is beyond his reach, will eventually stretch and hitch until he reaches it. In whatever method he manages to get about by his own effort, and not on wheels, he'll learn the art of creeping. From this the next step is pulling himself up by means of some support and waddling about, on his own feet, until he learns balance. From this it is a short leap to walking.

Nature has its own method of encouraging activity when the child has arrived at the proper age and has attained the requisite strength. All the artificial methods we use to spur on such activities are wasted and harmful. Let the mother look to baby's diet, let her afford him the opportunity to move about without hindrance, and she can rely upon nature to do the rest.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

SECRET OF SERVING GOOD FRUITS LIES IN THE MARKETING; HERE ARE HINTS FOR HOUSEWIVES

By SISTER MARY

Buying fruits and vegetables calls for a combination of accurate knowledge and good luck. Every housewife and good grocer arranges his wares to look their best and it is only the canny shopper who discovers the blemish if there is one.

There are certain conditions and qualities pertaining to some seasonal fruits and vegetables which the experienced housewife should know. Strawberries at their best should be of medium size and of a bright red color. The color should be uniform, fading slightly toward the tip, perhaps, but not showing green. The fruit should be free from excessive dirt. Bruises are bad in any fruit since they invite decay. Immature or one-sided berries are likely to be seedy and poorly flavored and are not desirable. The boxes, whether they be quart or pint sizes, should be well filled, and a quart weighs twenty pounds, including the box. If it weighs less than seventeen ounces it is short weight.

HOW TO CHOOSE PINEAPPLES

Pineapples are another fruit most plentiful during June. They are easy to choose because they have few imperfections. The size of this fruit usually has little to do with its quality, and pound-for-pound one pineapple yields about the same percentage of edible material as another. Fruit wanted for immediate use should be of an even golden yellow color. This denotes full ripeness. Pulling the leaves from the "crown" is another test of maturity. The leaves should pull easily and be white for some distance up from the base. The fruit should not be hard and green looking unless it is to be kept for some time before using. Overripe pineapples are soft and frequently have black spots. The black spots indicate "black rot," which becomes troublesome with warm weather. This usually starts at the base of the fruit and is plain to be seen.

Decay and over-ripeness are the commonest faults with cherries. The ever-present wormy cherry cannot be detected on the retailer's stand but it can easily be picked out at home for wormy cherries float in water and sound ones do not. Brown rot, the most destructive of all cherry decays, is held in check by low temperatures.

A Shopkeeper's Creed; A Scolding Laburnum Tree; Weddings and Astrology; Sandwiches a Gift to Mankind; Philosophy of a Bort.

Dear Marge:—In a Fort Street shop, written in long-hand and placed prominently in a window amidst an array of odds and ends of old china, platters, vases, old cruet stands, scales, pictures, used high chairs, rocking chairs, second-hand plumbing fixtures, etc., is the following notice: "I did not come to this country to kill time; neither do I wish to discuss politics. I am here to do business with business people whom, in my mind, it is a pleasure to wait upon and their patronage is highly appreciated, when I will endeavor to give satisfaction in all transactions."

From my window as I write I can see a Laburnum tree nodding in the wind. It nods and hesitates, and then as a stronger gust strikes it, it bends and bows with great agitation, and something about two of its moving branches reminds me of two scolding old women, who look as though they were scolding and complaining to the wind for robbing them of their last few remaining blossoms.

Even weddings based on astrological calculations sometimes hit a reef. Myra Kingsley, well-known astrologist whose wedding was thus planned, has recently obtained a divorce from her singing husband.

On recent visit felt acute disappointment on finding the following books on the bed table in the guest room: "The Canadian Oyster," "Weddings and Their Control" and the "Canadian Who's Who."

Did you ever notice how indicative of one's personality a walk can be. In this office there is the man with the quick staccato step, one with a dragging slouch, another with the light step of a boy; a determined heel-clicking step; another with a slow dependable tread; each walk bespeaks certain characteristics which each possesses.

Am looking forward to attending a wedding that will live up to all the romantic illusions that one associates with weddings—the beauty of the bride and the handsomeness of the groom meet with the popular conception of how a bride and groom should look.

Thanks to the person who invented sandwiches! What would take their place? They are the mainstay of a workman's lunch box, women nibble them at afternoon teas, office workers lunch on sandwiches at a soda fountain; club sandwiches constitute a whole meal in tea rooms; hot dog sandwich completes a picnic.

Recently saw a man who at the sight of a mouse turned chalk white from fright, so much for another established belief; mice were supposed to be the "bete noir" of women, exclusively.

A drive through the Uplands at noon hour has had a tonic effect. All morning was beset by unexplainable, undefinable "blues" originating from nothing definite. They simply appeared out of a blue sky and claimed me as their victim. In a case of this sort, reasoning or even the psychologist's method of ferreting out the root, do me no good. The best cure is to be a patient martyr to the mood, it dies a quicker death than though one tried to fight it off—philosophical, n'est-ce pas?—An revoir.

BIRTH CONTROL IS ENDORSED

Family Limitation Urged at Meeting in Winnipeg

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, June 8.—Urging establishment of clinics and other methods for diffusion of scientific and reliable information for family limitation, a resolution in favor of public recognition of the social advantages of birth control was endorsed unanimously by 200 persons attending a public meeting here last night to discuss "family limitation and family welfare."

Dr. H. M. Speechie presided at the meeting, which had been called by a group of women who had concluded birth control information should be available to all persons wishing to obtain it. Their reasons for urging it was sympathy for overburdened mothers and children born into homes where for economic or other reasons they had no opportunity for happiness.

SOCIAL, PERSONAL AND HOME INTERESTS

"The Plains of Abraham"

BY JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD
(Copyright by Doubleday Doran Co., Inc.)

He made a bed in a corner of the room, and Tollette sank upon it. He covered her with his father's coat which he had brought from the valley and went outside to watch and guard with Odd.

He could hear her sobbing as tears came at last to give her comfort. He fought back a thickening in his throat and a hot flame in his eyes as the boy in him called out for his mother. He, too, wanted this easement for his grief. But he stood—a man. Odd watched tirelessly and sleeplessly with his master.

After a long time, there was silence in the old house, and Jeems knew that Tollette was asleep. He went in quietly and replaced the coat about her. Her face was white and lovely, and wet lashes glistened on her cheeks. Timidly his fingers pressed the silken braid of her hair. He brushed a wispy of hair from her forehead. Unconsciously his lips moved. Hope and faith and prayer seemed to stir in the room as he dared to raise the soft braid to his lips, and then he returned to his place outside with something like a glory enshrined with his sorrow.

He sat on the ground with the house at his back and his bow and sheaf of arrows and the English hatchet within reach of his hands. The stillness seemed a live thing that had barred all sound from solemn hours of meditation, and he soon began to feel its influence. Slowly and irresistibly it brought the desire to close his eyes and sleep, and he rose to his feet in a struggle to keep awake. Odd's teeth clicked and his eyes gleamed with undimmed vigilance.

For hours they watched together and marked every changing shadow. They skirted the edges of the open, advancing a step at a time and with as little noise as the owl wings that now and then came from the trees. They scanned Lussan's meadow, and Jeems climbed a tall tree to see if he could discover a glow of fire. At intervals he returned to the house and looked in at Tollette. It was after midnight when he sat down again, and soon the stars seemed to be laughing at him and to be drawing nearer as if they had beaten him in a game. They closed his eyes. Odd rested his heavy jaws between his forepaws and gave a deep sigh. Exhaustion—then sleep.

With an effort, Jeems roused himself. He saw Odd at his feet. Day had come, and the sun was rising. He sensed these things first, in a flash of wakefulness, and then felt a weight against his arm and the softness of his mother's hair on his cheek. Only it was Tollette and not his mother. She must have come to him before the dawn broke. Her head was resting on his shoulder and his arms were about her as they had been about his mother. His movement had not awakened her, but now a slow tightening of his arms brought a tremor to her lashes and a deep breath to her lips. He kissed her pale face, and her eyes opened. He kissed her again, and the act did not seem to disturb her any more than it amazed or shocked him. There was a responsive greeting in her eyes.

Then she sat up straight, bled him and faced the rising sun. The air was "so cold" that she shivered. Every shrub and bramble blade of grass in the clearing glistened with frost. The coat she had brought from the house slipped from her shoulders, and Jeems drew it about her again. They stood up, and Jeems returned into the cramped timbers. For a little while they did not speak. That they belonged to each other was a truth which pressed itself on them without effort or confusion. Tollette was not ashamed that she had come to him nor that her act had proclaimed what pride and false prejudice had so long hidden from him in her heart. Her eyes glowed with a light which shone softly out of fathomless depths of pain and grief. She wanted him to know how completely the folly of her pride was gone and how glad she was that it was he who stood beside her now. They might have been years older, so calmly did the sense of surrender out of possession hold them. Except for the tenderness

In her eyes, Tollette was unchanged. But Jeems felt himself taller at her side and something had entered him which was like the spirit of a conqueror. It was another world now, vast mystery ahead of him. Something to fight through, to win from, to live for. Mysterious, it was still very real. It set his heart throbbing with an unappalled and challenging force. Yesterday, black with tragedy and grievous with his pain, was a long time ago, but with Tollette, to-day had become a tremendous living present. Gently her fingertips touched his shoulder. Then she looked with him toward the east and the Richelieu and what lay beyond.

From the moment they had risen to their feet, Odd had stood as rigid as carved wood in the white-coated grass with his muzzle levelled toward Lussan's meadow. Something definite had come within his reach, which made it unnecessary for him to measure the wind, and suddenly there rose above other sound the wild and raucous crying of a blue jay, and a cawing of alarm among the crows. A second and a third blue jay joined the first, and their tumult came to an end when a piercing bird call terminated sharply in a single screeching note.

"That was an arrow," said Jeems, beginning to rise. "More than once I have had to kill a noisy blue jay when creeping upon game." He drew Tollette into the shelter of the house and called Odd. A few minutes later—swiftly moving, sombre and silent—he came to an end when a piercing bird call terminated sharply in a single screeching note.

CHAPTER VII

The spectacle of death marching back over its trail brought no terror to Jeems. He had watched for it, had half expected it, and in a way it was like the answer to an unvoiced prayer which had followed its awakening when he had found Tollette in his arms. To fight for her now, to rush forth from the house with battle cry on his lips, and to be cut to pieces in her defence was not a prospect which dismayed him, but which, instead, inspired in him a fearless exaltation. It was Tollette who saved him from whatever folly was brewing itself in his brain as he stood with a long hunting arrow fitted to his bow. With a breathless cry, she drew him away from the broken door and there, safe for a moment from the savages who were entering the clearing, she flung her arms about his shoulders. For in these tragic seconds a look had come into Jeems's face like that which had frightened her in the tower room of the mill, a look hard and vengeful with the desire to kill.

"Jeems, dear, we must hide," she pleaded. "We must hide!" The futility of trying to conceal themselves when their footprints were clearly left upon the frosty ground did not occur to him at once. It was her voice and the name it claimed for him that broke down the resolution which soon would have betrayed them. "I know of a place," she was saying. "We must hurry to it!" She rushed ahead of him and he followed her into another room, where a table was falling into ruin. The red pillars had paused at the edge of the open. They stood motionless, like stone men, listening and watchful, the upper parts of their bodies still unclothed until colder days and glistening with grease and paint. Tollette did not allow Jeems to pause, and the steps above complained as they trod upon them. Jeems looked down from the top and saw the marks of their feet in the dust below. Their fate was certain if the savages came this far, but with only the narrow stair for their enemies to ascend he was determined, in this event, that each of his twenty arrows should find a home. Tollette preceded him into the room above. She went directly to a panel-like board which held a wooden peg and in a moment they were peering into the musty gloom of a huge black hole under the roof, which the Lussans had used as a garret.

Uncle Wiggily's June Bug

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Once upon a time, after Uncle Wiggily had found lost Kittie Kat, the rabbit gentleman was hopping around in the woods looking for another adventure. He was sitting on a green mossy log in the bright sunshine, when, all of a sudden, he saw a little brown bug crawling on the ground not far away.

"Hello!" called the rabbit gentleman, "are you a cricket?"

"No," was the answer, "I'm a June Bug."

"Oh, June Bug, I am glad to see you!" spoke the rabbit. "What are you doing here?"

"Nothing, just now," answered the Bug. "But when it comes night I am going to buzz around and look for a light."

"What sort of a light?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, any kind of a light," was the answer. "You know, we June Bugs love to buzz around a light. We don't fly in the dark. But the woods here have been very dark the last few nights. I couldn't find any light to buzz around, not even a firefly or lightning bug. And I do, so much, want to buzz around a light. That's what all June Bugs must do."

"Well, it's too bad if you can't find a light to buzz around," said Mr. Longears. "How would you like to come to my hollow stump bungalow and buzz?"

"Have you any light there, Uncle Wiggily?"

"There will be some lights after dark," answered the rabbit.

"Then I'll come with you and buzz," said the June Bug. "And thanks, a whole lot, just because and because for being so kind to me."

"Take him away!"

"All right! Come along!" invited the rabbit. "I'll make a little box out of birch bark to carry you in, as, if I put you in my pocket, without a box you might get hurt."

So the rabbit put the June Bug in a little birch bark box and started hopping home with him. Now if Uncle Wiggily had known what was going to happen about this June Bug perhaps he wouldn't have taken the little brown, crawling chap home. But he did.

"What have you there, Wiggily?" asked the rabbit's wife as she saw him take the birch bark box out of his pocket.

"A June Bug," was the answer. "I found the poor fellow in the woods and brought him home. He wants to buzz about a light and he can't find one in the forest, not even a lightning bug. But we'll have a light this evening."

"Yes," said Mrs. Longears, a bit doubtful like and apprehensive, "but I'm not so sure I want a June Bug buzzing around the bungalow."

"Oh, he will give you no trouble," said the rabbit. "But little he knew what was going to happen."

The remainder of that day the June Bug remained very quietly in his box on the mantel. In fact he was so quiet that Uncle Wiggily forgot all about him and he did not even think of the June Bug or show him to the rabbit children when they hopped home from school.

But in the evening after supper when the lights were set aglow in the bungalow all of a sudden there was a loud, buzzing sound and down zoomed the big June Bug. He bumped Nurse Jane on her nose.

"Oh! Oh!" squealed the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"Excuse me!" buzzed the June Bug. "The light blinded me!" Then he zoomed around some more and banged into Mrs. Longears.

"Oh, take him away! Take him away!" screamed the rabbit lady. "His legs are all tangled in my fur!"

"June Bug, you shouldn't do that," said Uncle Wiggily, reaching over to take the creature out of the fur of Mrs. Longears. "What's the idea? I thought you wanted to buzz around a light!"

"So I do," said the June Bug, zooming now toward Baby Bunty. "But I forgot to tell you that though I love bright lights I can't see when I get near one so I can't tell where I am going. I'm sorry, but it has always been that way!"

Then the June Bug zipped around and hit first Jingle and then Jangle on their pink noses and the twin rabbits cried "Oh! Oh!"

"Wiggily, you'll have to do something about this June Bug!" cried Mrs. Longears. "He's banging into everybody. Oh, here he is at me again! Oh, he's in my ear! Squeal! Squeal! Squeal!"

"I'll put out the light!" said Nurse Jane and she did, making the bungalow dark. Then the June Bug buzzed to zoom back into his box. But Mrs. Longears said her husband would have to take the bug away. And what happened next you shall hear to-morrow night when the story will be about Uncle Wiggily's lightning bug. And I hope the wash rag doesn't take a bite out of the cake of soap only to feel sorry for itself afterward.

Part For Women In Fascist System

Rome, June 8.—Premier Mussolini at last has placed woman almost on a par with man in the Fascist system. To-day under the party aegis was issued a new regulation "to carry Fascism into the family." It reorganizes the feminine Fascist groups, ordering the formation of units for women and girls wherever there is a men's unit. This applies to about 4,000 communities in Italy.

Marriage:
The Undiscovered
Country

Dorothy Dix

Discusses Its Effect on Men and Women

Mr.
And Mrs.—

Seen From a Distance, Marriage Is An Enchanted Land of Bliss—Even at Close Quarters, It Is An Undiscovered Country, Where Angels Turn Into Devils, Weaklings Become Strong, and Two People Who Fight a Daily Battle Prefer Each Other's Company to Peace

ONCE had an old colored cook who, in discussing the domestic problem, invariably settled the argument by saying: "Husbands is the most curiouslest of people there is."

If this is true, and husbands and wives for wives, too fall under the same category—are the strangest and most inexplicable human beings that exist, then marriage is the most undiscovered country.

Seen from a distance, it has ever been an enchanted land that lay upon our far horizon and that lured us with its promises of bliss. Intrigued by the stories that poets and romancers have told of the happiness to be found within it, millions of young couples have set out to explore it.

Some have come back loaded down with riches of contentment. Some have returned bruised and broken and empty handed. But none has ever been able to chart the terrain they have traveled over, or tell us how to surmount its mountains of difficulties, or how to steer clear of the dangerous pits that lie along its pathways. Still, as has anyone ever been able to tell us why its inhabitants have the strange manners and customs that they do, or worship such false gods or practice such heathen rites.

Men have penetrated to the heart of darkest Africa and photographed its secret places. They have built observatories on the tops of the highest mountains and made maps of the bottom of the sea, but marriage still remains a terra incognita of which we know as little as we do about the lost Atlantis.

All that we know with certainty is that when men and women start for the altar they literally take their lives in their hands, because no wisdom nor art nor science can foretell how any marriage is going to turn out, or whether it will be a success or a failure. Men can calculate the movement of the stars for centuries ahead, but no man can foretell what sort of wife a flapper is going to make. Men can unite a dozen diverse chemical elements and make a compound as bland as mother's milk, but nobody can tell a bride and groom how to blend together antagonistic tempers and temperaments and points of view.

Also, we know that marriage is a land of enchantment that works a spell upon people and changes them from what they are to something entirely different. No one, who even takes a short journey into the holy estate, is ever quite the same again. Sometimes they are better, sometimes worse, but they are different. Sometimes it changes a soft, sweet young girl into a hard, bitter woman. Sometimes it turns a selfish, frivolous, vain girl into a big, fine, strong woman. Sometimes it takes all the heart and soul and courage out of a strong man and turns him into a quitter. Sometimes it makes a man out of a weakling.

You never can tell how marriage is going to take with anyone, or what it is going to do to him or her.

Nor can you tell why married people act as they do. Why do husbands and wives treat each other the way they do? Knowing that they have got to live together for years and years and years and that their own happiness depends upon keeping on good terms with each other, why do they cast into the discard all of the amenities of life that they use in dealing with other people?

Why do husbands and wives say to each other things that they would not say to any other human being? Why do they fling insults at each other that they would not dream of offering a stranger? Why do they seem to take a delight in wounding each other's vanity and hurting each other's feelings? Why do husbands and wives so seldom show each other any little appreciation or tenderness, though each knows that the other is starving for a few kind words?

Can anyone explain that?

And who can explain this further mystery, why husbands and wives who quarrel continually stay together in homes that are literally bells on earth when there are dozens of trains each day leaving their stations for places where they would, at least, find peace? I know dozens of husbands and wives with whom every word is a fighting word. Neither one can say it is a pleasant day without starting something. Both appear to outsiders to be miserable. The man is surly and grouchy. The woman peevish and fretful. Either one could get a divorce on a dozen counts and yet they stay married, though apparently they hate each other.

Why? Why? Why? Is it because they get a sort of sadistic pleasure in torturing each other? Or because they have a morbid joy in having a grievance? Or because they love a shindig and get a kick out of being in a perpetual fight? Or is it because in some unknown way we cannot explain the married bond holds them together in spite of themselves?

So many people are misnamed. There are so many women who nag the lives out of their husbands. So many women who work their husbands to death to pay for their extravagance. So many men who are brutal to their wives, who are unfaithful, who never do or say thing to make their wives happy or contented. And yet the number of divorces and the number of wife deserters are comparatively few. And that is another of the mysteries of marriage.

And that is why I say that marriage is an undiscovered country.

Interesting Trees

III—THE CYPRESS

From what kind of wood did Cupid make his arrows? That question, of course is asked in a playful spirit. Cupid existed only in the fancy of the olden Greeks and Romans, and his arrows were just as fanciful. The ancient Greeks, however, said that the arrows were made from the wood of the cypress tree.

A cypress tree

There was supposed to be something holy about a cypress grove, also something of dread. Perhaps the dark new in a cypress forest will account for the dread. Greeks and Romans planted cypress trees around tombs. Coffins for Egyptian mummies were made of cypress wood.

In southern Asia, in southern Europe, and in parts of North America you will find evergreen cypress trees; but Nature did not give them to lands south of the equator.

About a dozen kinds of cypress trees are known. The Nootka Sound cypress grows along the Pacific Coast as far north as Alaska.

reach a height of more than ninety feet; but in California they reach a height of more than 125 feet.

In Mexico and elsewhere around the Gulf of Mexico grow the tallest of all cypress trees. Some of these get to be as high as 170 feet! The trunks are very thick, in a few cases having a diameter of more than fifteen feet. Cypress wood is greatly valued in building. It lasts through the years, even through the centuries. The doors of St. Peter's Church at Rome were made of cypress wood back in the time of Constantine, and the wood in them was good when the doors were taken down 1,100 years later.

Some cypress wood is red, and the rest is yellow. All of it resists the action of rain, and that is one of the reasons that cypress lumber is good for building. You cannot depend on every piece lasting 1,100 years; but you may expect cypress to remain strong as long as you will have good use for it.

Cypress wood has a pleasant smell, and there is a belief that it helps cure sickness. Doctors in the Orient have told patients who suffered from disease of the lungs to go to cypress forests and breathe the air.

(This story should go in "Nature" section of your scrapbook.)

To-morrow—Sequoia Trees.

Horoscope

THURSDAY, JUNE 9, 1932

Benefic planetary aspects dominate today according to astrology. It is one of the times when he who trusts his destiny may achieve greatness. The morning hours are under a favorable direction for writers of every sort. It is a good time to attend to one's bills—cheques are especially well guided. Newspapers should profit under this planetary government, which promises much interest in their policies and contents.

Women are under kindly rule today, but they should subordinate their wishes to those of their male associates if they hope to gain success while this configuration continues. To-day is pre-eminently a time to begin important matters and the wise will use every minute wisely, astrologers declare. Lawyers, statesmen and all who lead popular opinion are under a favorable direction for the stars today. New leaders are to be proclaimed at this time, which seems to favor younger persons. This should be a fortunate rule for men and women who have held places in the past. To those who have enjoyed fame or its equivalent new honors are to come, it is a forecast.

Favors may be granted to those deserving them today, for the stars appear to put the molders of destiny in good humor. Mars is in a place, as the hours advance, under which dissensions may be easily started. It is wise to beware of entrance to any sort of a quarrel. There is a sign supposed to foment agitation and to encourage criticism on the part of those who have small talents or attainments. Uranus gives promise of a clarity of thought among the people who discuss national and international questions of moment. The evening is read as a most suspicious time for conferences, meetings and assemblies of every sort.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of extraordinary good luck. Work and investments should bring increased incomes. Children born on this day probably will be able to make an impression in the world. Subjects of this sign of Gemini usually have varied talents and two fold natures. John Howard Payne, dramatist and author of "Home Sweet Home" was born on this day, 1792. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Karl Dussigny, 1846; famous landscape painter, Peter the Great, 1872; Russian ruler, and Robert W. Thompson, 1899, secretary of the navy under President Hayes.

Iowa Primary Brings Turnover

Des Moines, Iowa, June 8.—A new twist to Iowa senatorial campaigns was indicated today with the defeat of United States Senator Smith W. Brookhart in Monday's Republican primary by Henry Field of Shenandoah. With 2,263 of the state's 2,435 predicts reported, Fields was about 86,000 ballots ahead of the veteran Senate foe of big business and Wall Street. The vote was: Fields 193,766 and Brookhart 137,386, with the other four candidates trailing far behind the two leaders.

Fields, dry and endorsed by organizations supporting prohibition, apparently was to be opposed in the November election by Louis Murphy of Dubuque, Democrat, whose pre-primary campaign centered around the slogan, "I am wet."

GREAT CAST IN "GRAND HOTEL"

"Grand Hotel" which next Monday will present on the screen of the Capitol Theatre the most expensive cast ever assembled for a single picture (including Greta Garbo, Joan Crawford, Wallace Beery, John and Lionel Barrymore), is an adaptation of the play by Vicki Baum. Miss Baum is a German writer and is equally talented as her sister, editor, novelist and playwright. She pointed to an old type-written in her suite at the Hotel St. Morris after her recent return to New York from Berlin.

"Isn't that the funniest typewriter you have ever seen?" she asked.

There was no question about the fact. Enamelled red and white by an admiring German manufacturer, Miss Baum's machine is an unusual instrument. It has no keyboard, the operator indicating the letter to be printed with a metal pointer and then pressing a lever to make the imprint on the paper.

It may be something of a coincidence, but the return of the Eros statue to Pico della Mirandola almost coincided with the height of the vogue of the "Sunshine Susie" premiere run. The little god with the arrow seems to personify the "Happy" spirit of the "Sunshine Susie" premiere run. MONTGOMERY AT DOMINION

Clever and Popular Actor Has Leading Role in "But the Flesh Is Weak"

Robert Montgomery is a quiet, soft-spoken person who displays none of the wise-cracking characteristics which are usually associated with his work on the screen. He does have, however, a fine sense of broad humor. The charm which won him stardom in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer pictures is readily discernible when he speaks.

Overworked as they are when used in conjunction with screen stars, the words "honest" and "modest" seem most applicable to this young player, who is starred in: "But the Flesh Is Weak," now showing at Dominion Theatre.

He is honest in telling of his pleasure at finding himself popular. Most players tell of how weary they are of the crowd's adulation. Not Robert Montgomery. He gets a big kick out of the crowds that flock to see him in person whenever he is recognized.

But, on the other hand, his modesty is shown by his dress and demeanor, neither of which are of the order that would attract undue attention. Montgomery dresses and behaves like any other nice young fellow who has found himself a pretty good berth in life.

CRITICISM
George Bancroft, once a leading boxer of the Pacific Fleet, might have become a heavyweight champion. The star started to study the many art of self-defence when he was whipped twice at the age of sixteen; he said recently during filming of his current Paramount picture, "The World and the Flesh," the romance of a swashbuckling Russian revolutionary, now showing at the Capitol Theatre.

Bancroft's physical measurements compare favorably with those of Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey.

Tunney weighs 185 pounds; Dempsey 190 and Bancroft 195.

Their respective heights are six feet, six inches one and a half inches; six feet two and a half inches.

Reach: Seventy inches, seventy-three inches, seventy-seven inches. Chest, normal: Thirty-eight inches, forty-one inches; forty inches.

Enter your handwriting, whether it be good, bad or indifferent, in each of these big Turret CAR-A-WEEK Contests. Excellence of penmanship has no bearing on the judges' decision . . . but, if your handwriting is unusual or unique, if it reveals character or temperament, then you have a splendid chance of winning a 1932 Chevrolet Standard Coach.

A committee of impartial judges, headed by the well-known handwriting authority, Mr. Frederic D. Jacob, for 15 years Dominion Government Graphologist, will choose the winner each week—the person whose handwriting shows the most unusual or interesting characteristics. In addition to the free car, 50 graphological readings will be given by Mr. Jacob each week to selected contestants.

NOTE
You simply write the following on the backs of 4 front panels from empty Turret Cigarette (20's) packages with portion of excise stamp attached—on the back of one panel, your name; on the back of another, your occupation; on a third, your street and town and on the fourth, your province. Fasten the four panels together and mail, on or before the closing date shown above, to Turret Cigarette Handwriting Contest.

Perry Gives Resume Of Rotary Business

Two Schools of Thought on Rotary's Attitude Towards International Questions
Laws May Be Changed to Permit Enrolment of More Than One Representative

Rotary International, as an organization, may endeavor at its convention in Victoria and Seattle to implement its keen desire for the maintenance of international peace. Proposals in this direction will probably come up for discussion and action at the Rotary Convention, it was intimated to-day by Chesley R. Perry, Chicago, Ill., dynamic secretary of Rotary International, when he reached the city for the Rotary conference.

On this important question, Mr. Perry pointed out at the Empress Hotel, that it is necessary to move out of the two schools of thought. One school thinks that the combined influence of 3,600 Rotary clubs in sixty countries should be brought to bear upon nations who may be on the verge of war and counsel them against flying in the face of world opinion.

The other school, Mr. Perry said, is the view that Rotary has no right to seek to inject itself into government, but should use its influence to create in every country a will for peace and foster a desire among all countries to settle differences without going to war.

Other questions that will probably be discussed by Rotary will be the making of certain changes in the administrative operation of the organization in order to better adapt its spread around the world. It is desired to bring the laws of Rotary up-to-date and keep abreast of world progress. It may be found necessary to modify or broaden Rotary laws to conform with local autonomy in details of operation. It may be that the principle of Rotary, which restricts Rotary membership to one line of business, may be changed. The convention may consider this rule too restrictive, as it excludes from membership the most desirable.

In order to get a true cross-section of opinion, seventy of whom will be invited to the conference, will be invited to change the laws to permit enrolment of one of each race in any particular line of business in any given community.

MEMBERSHIP REPLACEMENT
Another proposal is that a business man, if he has been a Rotary member for fifteen years be obliged to surrender his claim to a younger man, although he would be privileged to continue as a member, but not represent a business in the club.

Mr. Perry made it plain in giving the interview that these were merely proposals that may come up for discussion at the International Assembly held in Seattle, and that the Rotary Convention will open on June 20.

Mr. Perry stated that delegates will be here for the conference who have not previously attended any Rotary convention, including Cecil Reid, E.C. Federated Malay States and H. Philippi of Bandoeng, Java.

Dr. J. S. Plaskett, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, returned yesterday from Montreal and Ottawa. At Montreal he attended the annual convocation of McGill University, where he received the honorary degree of LL.D. at a colorful ceremony at which E. W. Beatty, E.C. chancellor, and General Sir Arthur Currie presided.

Dr. Plaskett's citation was read by Prof. A. S. Eve and after the convocation the honorary graduates and the deans of the various faculties were entertained at luncheon by Sir Arthur Currie at the Mount Royal Club.

At Ottawa Dr. Plaskett attended the proceedings of the Royal Society and was presented with the Flavelle medal for science. The ceremony of presentation took place at the first evening meeting, held in the new research laboratory of the Dominion, which will serve as the headquarters of the Royal Society.

Among those present at the sessions of the Royal Society were Premier Bennett, who was presented with the Flavelle medal by Judge P. S. Lamson, W. H. Howay, New Westminster, representing the British Columbia Representative Association.

Sir Robert Falconer, retiring president, in his address, reviewed the work of the Royal Society during its fifty years of activity.

The society has secured, through the Carnegie Corporation, ten fellowships to be awarded to arts and science students, one having been awarded to Peter M. Millman, who was a student at the astrophysical observatory here for two summers. Dr. Plaskett expressed the opinion that the proceedings at the recent session were the best in the history of the Royal Society.

ASK LETTUCE BE INSPECTED
Hon. William Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture, to-day, received a letter from the Canadian Horticultural Council complaining that two Vancouver brokerage firms had shipped unsatisfactory consignments of soft head lettuce to Montreal and Toronto and that lawsuits may result. The eastern firms complain that the lettuce was too young for shipment and caused them material losses.

FOIL ATTEMPT TO ROB CLUB

Esquimalt Police Surprise Burglars in Gorge Vale Clubhouse; Pair Escape

Prompt action by Chief Delmar Hodnett and Constable V. Peckhold of the Esquimalt police, saved the Gorge Vale Golf Club from being looted by two men yesterday evening. Answering a call to the clubhouse, the policemen surprised the burglars who fled into the bushes adjoining the quarters after Constable Peckhold had fired five shots above them with an order to stop. The pair escaped the search of the police in the wooded locality.

According to the chief, two youths returning from the James Bay Athletic Association, heard the crash of glass at the clubhouse as they were passing at 11 o'clock. They saw the beam of a flash light working around the interior of the secretary's office. They phoned the police who responded immediately.

Constable Peckhold, arrived at the scene first. He saw one man standing outside the clubhouse and another getting out through a window. On his order to stop, the pair broke into a run for the woods and did not halt when he fired above their heads. Entrance had been gained to the clubhouse by jimmying the window of the secretary's office. Tobacco and cigarettes kept there were found rolled up in an apron, indicating the house-breakers had been disturbed before they could finish their work.

Man Hit By Car Is Getting Better

Police to-day said a charge of falling to stop at the scene of an accident, would be preferred against Charles Heathwaite, 1105 Esquimalt Road, following an accident on Johnson Street, under the E. & N. Railway bridge yesterday evening. Mr. Heathwaite was alleged to be the driver of a car which hit John Jansson, 1719 First Street, and caused injuries which rendered him unconscious. Mr. Jansson was taken to the police station for first aid and was afterwards taken home by his friend, Helmer Vikman, 1753 Second Street. Mr. Jansson and Mr. Vikman were proceeding west on Johnson Street, on the south side, according to the police report, when a car, traveling in the same direction, swerved to the wrong side of the road, struck Mr. Jansson and continued on without stopping.

The presentation to Col. W. J. Holmes of the Volunteer Decoration, which is the officers' decoration given for twenty years' continuous service, was a feature of the United Services' Institution meeting yesterday evening. Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown, C.M.G., D.S.O., performed the ceremony.

DR. PRICE TALKS ON HARDY FERNS

President Addresses Victoria Horticultural Society

Annual Summer Show Will Be Held at Willows July 29-30

Dr. A. G. Price, president, who for a number of years has been keenly interested in the growing of numerous species of hardy ferns, gave an interesting talk at the meeting of the Victoria Horticultural Society yesterday evening.

The interest of this topic was increased by the speaker having prepared specimens of many ferns grown by him. The advantages of improving certain spots around the home garden, particularly when facing north, were outlined by the speaker. Comments were made that a number of gardens recently judged by him in the garden competition could have been improved by the growing of a number of hardy ferns.

F. R. Leighton and E. M. Whyte expressed the society's indebtedness to the president for his interesting address.

SUMMER SHOW
Announcement was made that the society, in view of the lack of accommodation in the city, would hold its annual summer show at the Willows, July 29 and 30, the main building having been placed at its disposal by the B.C. MAY DESTROY CANDY VENDERS

Appeal Court Upholds Magistrate Jay's Order Forfeiting Eleven Machines

The British Columbia Court of Appeal this morning unanimously refused to interfere with Magistrate George Jay's order for destruction of eleven candy vending machines, seized some weeks ago by the Victoria police in raids upon a number of small stores, the owners of which were convicted of operating common gambling places.

On behalf of R. Hall and ten others, Frank Higgins, K.C., unsuccessfully pleaded that the machines were the property of an innocent third party, who should not suffer because his property had been misused. He also pleaded that the machines were not capable of being used for gambling, misuse of the tokens emitted being the act of the storekeepers leasing the machines. C. L. Harrison briefly explained the circumstances for the Crown.

Chief Justice Macdonald considered the application for review of the police magistrate's ruling should be dismissed. The order had been within the discretion of the magistrate, and unless he had been shown to be wrong in the exercise of that discretion it should be respected. There was no doubt that Parliament intended to put a stop, as far as it could, to that method of gambling, which was injurious to the public, especially to young people.

WARNING IGNORED

His Lordship commented that the Richards case, which had been cited as a precedent, had been the first of the kind to come before the court, at a time when there was grave doubt whether such vending machines were or were not gambling devices. The owner knew the magistrate had power to forfeit the machines if they were illegally used. His Lordship noted, commenting the owner had taken no notice of the warning. It was therefore the duty of the court to see he taught his lesson in a manner which he would not soon forget.

Mr. Justice Martin commented that the same machines had been before the court in the Richards case, the owner being the same person. The fact that the machines had been misused formerly should have been a warning to the owner, and it would have been better for him to have exercised supervision of the use of his equipment.

INGENUOUS MACHINES
Mr. Justice McPhillips considered the candy vending machines had been devised by men of genius for a purpose which might be innocent enough, but might be operated in contravention of the law. He noted the owner did not part with title to the machines, sharing in the profits of operation by increased sales of his candy. He agreed that the magistrate's order was proper. In furtherance of the policy of the law, as it did not seem right to allow men of ingenuity to devise such machines.

Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald refused to interfere with the police magistrate's ruling of confiscation, in view of the knowledge acquired by the owner of the machines as to the possibility of their being forfeited.

MARSHALL IN KNOCKOUT WIN

Hard-hitting Vancouver Featherweight Puts Harry Ketchell Away in Second

Vancouver, June 8.—Harry Marshall, flashy Vancouver featherweight, scored a two-round knockout over Harry Ketchell, Tacoma, in a scheduled six-round main event on the boxing card here yesterday evening.

Both boys mixed it from the first bell with honors fairly even, until Marshall connected with a terrific right hook early in the second that sent the Tacoma battler down for the count.

In the semi-windup, Billy Shaw, Vancouver lightweight, defeated Eddie Foy, Seattle, in six rounds of milling.

Foy showed plenty of speed and ability to hit, but Shaw was too rugged and came on fast after the first three rounds.

Russ Bradford, lightweight, Detroit, knocked out Jack Cuddy, Boston, in the third round of the six-rounder on the card.

Other results:
Rosa McMillan, Vancouver bantamweight, took the nod over Chris Loftus, Vancouver, in four rounds.

Eddie Ivory, lightweight, Vancouver, defeated Billy Petrie, Vancouver, in four rounds.

Gil Crippen and Harry Peterson, welterweights, both of Vancouver, drew in four rounds, and Sonny Jones, Vancouver, won a technical knockout over Gil Polna, New Westminster, in a bantamweight mixup.

NENOFF WILL OPPOSE RYAN

Two Rugged Middleweight Wrestlers in Main Event on Saturday's Card

T. Higami, Clever Japanese Star, Will Meet Cyclone Burns in Semi-windup

Steve Nenoff, rugged Bulgarian middleweight, and Ray Ryan, clever Los Angeles grappler, will meet in the eight ten-minute round main event of Saturday evening's wrestling card at the Tillamook gym.

In the five eight-minute round semi-windup Tetsura Higami, Japanese star, and Cyclone Burns will battle.

The latter two are newcomers to Victoria. The usual local preliminary will round out the card. The first bout will start at 8:45 o'clock.

Ryan and Nenoff are two of the roughest wrestlers to ever show here.

The former engaged in two thrilling bouts with Des Anderson. He lost them both after various battles. Nenoff has also appeared here twice, dropping a bout to Anderson, while in the second he defeated Bull Stastney, former navy champion.

HIGAMI IS GOOD

Higami has the best record of all with victories to his credit over both Anderson and Nenoff, and several other leading middleweights. He specializes in the airplane spin and body slam. Burns has been appearing against the best men in the northwest at Seattle shows.

Promoter Fred Richardson announced to-day that the prices charged at the open air show on May 24 will be in order for Saturday's card.

Canadian Cyclist Hurt in England

Douglas, Isle of Man, June 8.—J. S. Gurd, Montreal, Canadian motorcycle racer, had a narrow escape from death or injury in the lightweight tourist trophy race to-day when the rear wheel of his machine collapsed. Gurd escaped with only a shaking up.

The lightweight event, for machines of two and one-half horsepower, was won in record time by Davenport, three times winner of the Ulster Circuit Grand Prix, whose time was three hours forty-four minutes and fifty-three seconds, his average speed 70.48 miles per hour.

GREEN MILL MEETS ELKS

First and Second Teams in Senior Amateur Baseball League Hook Up To-night

Forbes and Holden Probable Hurlers; Cafemen Seek Fifth Straight Victory

One of the best games in the Senior Amateur Baseball League is looked for to-night at the Royal Athletic Park when the Green Mill, undefeated leaders of the circuit, stack up against the Elks, last year's champions. The game will start at 6:15 o'clock.

Although nothing definite has been announced, rumors emanating from the Elks camp state that Norm Forbes will return to the mound to-night in an effort to halt the winning streak of the cafemen. Forbes has been inactive as a pitcher, with the exception of taking relief roles in two or three games, for the last year, having played in the outfield for the antlered tribe.

In their last game against the Sons of Canada, Forbes went in for two innings and worked well. His assortment of curves was just as good as ever and he appeared to have lost none of his "smoke."

It is expected Forbes will be opposed by Holden, first string chucker of the Green Mill. Holden has yet to be defeated in league competition and had pitched the cafemen to several sweet victories. He turned back the Elks in the last meeting between the two clubs and is confident of making it two in a row.

The Elks and Sons are at present tied for second place and a win for the antlered tribe will give them undisputed position of the runners-up position, a lone game behind the cafemen.

Gar Wood's Mark To Be Recognized

New York, June 8.—The American Power Boat Association has decided to recognize Gar Wood's speedboat mark of 111.712 miles per hour as a United States record.

Wood made his record run in Florida under the auspices of the Yachmen's Association of America and although the mark was accepted by the International Motor Yachting Union, the A.P.B.A. declined to recognize it as a United States standard.

SAM DAVIDSON GIVES ADVICE

Secretary of Dominion Football Association Warns Coast League Clubs

Vancouver, June 8.—The action of the clubs of the Pacific Coast Football League in forming themselves into a new body to carry out their schedule despite their suspension by the British Columbia Football Association, "will place them beyond recognition by any organized football body," according to a telegram received from Sam Davidson, secretary of the Dominion Football Association. He suggests that they "consider the situation very carefully."

The clubs affected include New Westminster Royals, present Dominion football champions, and the situation as it stands apparently means the elimination of this traditionally strong club, St. Saviour's, St. Andrew's and Nanaimo City from the Dominion championships this year.

The teams were suspended when they failed to produce club books and records asked for by the association. They then formed themselves into the Pacific Coast Football Association.

Secretary Davidson was apprised of this action and has wired the new body as follows:

"Very much regret action Coast League clubs outlined your wire, as this action will place them beyond recognition by any organized football body and prevent interchange of visits with American clubs, or the use of eastern players during winter season. Several attempts have been made in the past to conduct outlaw football and all of them have ended in failure. Suggest you consider situation very carefully."

BLIND PERSONS TO SHOW SKILL

Sightless Workers Will Perform Tasks in Victoria Store

Commencing June 13, the western division of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, through facilities provided by the Victoria Art Gallery and Bazaar, corner View and Broad Streets, an opportunity will be given the public of Victoria to witness the ingenious and expert handiwork of blind people. One blind man will manufacture corn brooms, another will be making up exquisite baskets and other useful commodities. Systems of embossed reading, as used by the blind, playing cards and other games, will be on display. This promises to be one of the most interesting exhibits ever seen in Victoria, and it is hoped the citizens will repay the efforts of the Institute by visiting the display.

Arrangements are being made for a special effort on the part of the retail merchants in Victoria in connection with the sale of Hope Brand brooms made by the blind and housewives of Victoria may signify their sympathy and support by purchasing from their own dealer, during this week, one of the brooms made by the blind.

Any further information may be obtained from Fred Landsberg, Victoria chairman, western division, C.N.I.B., at 1008 Broad Street, Victoria.

Who's Who at the Rotary Convention

CHESLEY E. PERRY

Chicago, Ill., secretary, Rotary International, is the general managing officer of the entire international organization. He joined the original Rotary Club in Chicago while it was still the only Rotary Club, and immediately took a prominent part in its activities. He was on the first committee on revision of its constitution and by-laws, has served on numerous other committees of the club and was, in 1916, chairman of its extension committee.

With Paul Harris he formulated a plan in 1910 for the establishment of a national association of the dozen or more Rotary Clubs then in existence. In collaboration with Mr. Harris he also arranged the details of the first Rotary convention, which was held in Chicago, August, 1910. At the opening session of that convention he was unanimously chosen as its presiding officer. After the organization of the National Association of Rotary Clubs, and the election of Paul Harris as its president, Mr. Perry thought he was free to go back to commercial life. The board of directors, however, prevailed upon him to take the job of secretary, and he has held that office ever since. He initiated and for many years edited and managed The Rotarian, the official publication of Rotary International.

He has traveled extensively in Canada, the United States, Mexico, Cuba, the British Isles and Continental Europe. He has attended every Rotary convention and every meeting of the board of directors of Rotary International.

ROBERT E. HEUN

Richmond, Ind., first vice-president, Rotary International, joined the Rotary Club of Richmond in 1921. He has served his club either as an officer or director for six years. He was governor of the twentieth district, 1924-1925; member of the R.I. extension committee, 1925-1927; chairman of the R.I. extension committee, 1928-1930; and member of the Vienna transportation committee, 1930-1931. As chairman of the Indiana Rotary convalescent home committee for the Riley Memorial Hospital for Children at Indianapolis, he pursued to a successful conclusion the raising of the sum of $275,000 among the Rotarians of the twentieth district. The cornerstone of this building was laid on April 28, 1931, by the founder of Rotary, Paul Harris and within the year the building was completed and turned over to the state for the use of the crippled children of Indiana. He was commissioner of the Wayne County Council of Boy Scouts for four years, director of the Richmond Community Chest campaign in 1929, director of the Richmond Social Service Bureau for three years, president of the Richmond Community Service for two years, and president of the art association for three years. He is managing-director and treasurer of the National Finance Company of Richmond, and a director and member of the executive committee of the Dickinson Trust Company.

He was born in New York City, December 4, 1876, and has lived a life of adventure and travel. Government service, both civil and military, have always had an especial appeal for him. He was American consular agent at Hakodate, Japan, from 1913 to 1915, while he was engaged in the lumber business in northern Japan. Return- ing to that country in 1918, he resumed this responsibility until 1920, when he returned to the United States and located in Richmond.

He enlisted in the Spanish-American War in 1898 and continued in the military service of the New York National Guard until 1910, rising to the rank of captain. He was an expert in the production of munitions in the World War after which he returned to Japan. During his residence there he visited several countries of the Orient and has also traveled considerably in Europe and the British Isles.

JOHN NELSON

Montreal, Que., third vice-president, Rotary International, was born in Ontario in 1873, and received his early education in that province. He later moved to

British Columbia, where he entered the newspaper business, becoming managing-director and editor of The Victoria Daily Times and The Vancouver World. At the present time he is supervisor of the public relations department of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada. He has also been contributing editor to Maclean's Magazine, a free-lance writer for Blackwood's, World's Work and other magazines. He is the author of the "Canadian Province: Their Policies and Problems," published in 1922. He has been twice named delegate to the Imperial Press Conference in London and in Canada, and for two years was a member of the Institute of Pacific Relations meeting in Honolulu. He is the honorary secretary of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs and an active director in the Y.M.C.A. Mr. Nelson became a member of the Rotary Club in Vancouver in 1917, and served the club as president in 1923. Two years later he became a member of the Rotary Club of Montreal, and for two successive years was a member of the Canadian advisory committee. He was governor of the twenty-eighth district in 1929-1930 and during the last year was chairman of the International service committee.

JOSEPH W. JACKSON

Madison, Wis., director and member, Investment committee, Rotary International, has been a Rotarian since 1920, when he joined the Rotary Club of Madison. He has long been active in committee work and served his club as director and president. He was governor of the thirteenth district last year.

He was born in Madison and educated there. Shortly after finishing college, where he was a star baseball pitcher, he became a rancher in North Dakota. By public demand he served as mayor of Williston, North Dakota, while operating his large ranch. Subsequently he served the state on the board of control in charge of charitable and penal institutions.

In the World War he was colonel in the remount service. After the war he located in Madison as business manager of the clinic which had been established by his four brothers, physicians and surgeons, which position he still occupies.

WILLIAM DE COCK BUNING

The Hague, Netherlands, director and member, E.E.A.C., Rotary International, was born in Soerakarta, Java, in 1880, but acquired his early education in Holland. In 1903 he left for Asia as a representative of an export house, and traveled all over the Far East. In 1905 he settled at Semarang as a broker.

Mr. Buning left Java in 1920 and in 1921 was appointed by the Dutch government as trade commissioner for the Netherlands East Indies, and in this capacity he visited Scandinavia. Subsequently, he did considerable traveling for the Dutch Chamber of Commerce in order to secure information on economic conditions. He has served on several official committees concerned with colonial matters for the Dutch government and has published many articles on colonial problems. He is recognized as one of Holland's leading authorities on export trade. In 1925 he became a member of the Rotary Club of The Hague, and served his club as treasurer in 1927, during which year he attended the Oster convention. In 1928-1929 he was governor of the fifty-ninth district, which capacity he was a member of the European advisory committee. On February 1, 1929, he was appointed an honorary associate commissioner of Rotary for Europe. He presented a charter to the Rotary Club of Cairo, Egypt, and also to the Rotary Club of Athens, Greece.

Now

SEE the difference
in Motor Oils

Ordinary oils are dark in color because of high carbon, gum and sludge content.

The New Marvelube is clean, clear, bright golden colored—you can see through it. It's all oil.

Once lubricating oil was a dark mystery. Now—in the New Marvelube—it is just clear, clean lubricant—100%

Once when you bought motor oil you had to buy carbon, gum and sludge-forming compounds along with it. Now you can buy—at no extra cost—a lubricant that is all oil—100% lubrication. What is the difference between the New Marvelube and ordinary oils? In one word it is purity. Purity is the most important thing in an oil. A really pure oil, the New Marvelube, has all the properties for long life and full protection of all working parts. And it gives you unequalled freedom from carbon, gum and other trouble-making deposits. A Super-Refining process developed and owned exclusively by Imperial Oil Limited makes the New Marvelube possible. It costs more to make the New Marvelube, of course. And it costs you less to use it. While it sells at the regular price it gives you better lubrication, keeps your motor fitter and takes all the punishment that the hardest working engine can give it, without losing any of its unequalled lubricating qualities.

Whether you change oil every 500 miles or every 2500 miles you will get better results with the New Marvelube. Most automobile manufacturers recommend changing oil every 500 miles because oil gets dirty in use and accumulates road grit and other injurious substances.

Liverpool Selling Weakens Winnipeg Wheat Quotations

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, June 8.—Liquidation at Liverpool brought on by heavy pressure of Canadian exports had a weakening effect on wheat prices in the pit today. Favorable weather for growing crops over prairie wheat also was a factor in the decline. Prices at the close were 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 lower for the day. July closed 1 1/4 lower at 54 1/2, October 1/4 at 57 1/2, and December 1/4 to 1 1/2 at 58 1/2 to 59 1/2.

A fair export trade was worked on the break, estimated at approximately 500,000 bushels.

Liverpool was bearish throughout, and declined steadily throughout the session. Broomhall attributed the weakness to pressure of Manitoba wheat on export.

Crop reports from the winter and spring wheat areas were distinctly favorable, while stock market weakness was not without its effect.

There was a percentage of stop-loss orders tapped from Chicago, but this was not large. No hedging pressure could be located, but buyers seemed to be in the market for bargains.

Cash wheat trade was not keen. No. 1 northern traded at 1/4 cent higher than yesterday's close, while other grades were unchanged. Coarse gains were not without its effect.

Wheat was sold with prices sympathetic to the decline in wheat.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)
Winnipeg, June 8.—Wheat: Wheat prices continued their downward trend to-day with the market weak throughout the session, based largely on the weakness in Liverpool, and which apparently shook all confidence. On the extreme break prices were 1 1/2 under close last night, and while there were frequent rallies, the market was unable to get very far away from the low marks, these upturns being difficult to hold.

Market was fairly active with offerings quite liberal at times. One continental house was a good buyer of July wheat during the morning and was also scattered buying for New York account. Export sales over night and this morning estimated at around 500,000 bushels, mostly Manitoba. Otherwise the market was largely a scalping affair, the trading getting in and out of the different months.

The cash market showed a fair demand for certain grades, while others were not wanted. The amount changing hands was probably a little larger than yesterday. Spreads were 1/4 higher to 1/2 lower on the two top grades while others were unchanged. Bradstreet weekly North American export clearances were placed at 7,172,000 bushels.

There was a report of a bad hail storm in Kansas. Further showers were forecast for all three prairie provinces. Country marketings in the west Tuesday were 557,000 vs. 342,000 year ago. Winnipeg futures closed 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 lower.

Coarse grains: These markets were more or less affected by the weakness in the leading cereal, although there was little selling pressure in evidence. A small export business in rye was confirmed, while there was a little domestic business in barley and oats, but the volume was small in all cases. Oats closed 1/4 to 1/2 lower.

Liverpool due 1/4 to 1/2 lower, based on Winnipeg.

CHICAGO

(By Logan & Bryan)
Chicago, June 8.—Wheat: Wheat sold off to new lows on the present down turn, July getting under fifty cents with final figures around half a cent over low points. The weakness at Liverpool which was due to persistent Canadian selling pressure and to the favorable spring wheat reports exerted considerable influence.

Canadian exchange conditions, with the drop in prices, have stimulated a large export business, it being estimated that as high as 10,000,000 bushels have been sold the past few days. With the present assurance of good crops this year, Canadians have evidently decided to get rid of their old wheat as rapidly as possible. This selling, however, leaves a poor demand for United States wheat for the time being, as sales of hard winters have been small. Weather conditions continue favorable.

The government telegraphic report of Canada shows generally favorable conditions. Reports on our spring wheat crop are also favorable and the winter wheat prospects are probably better than they were a few weeks ago. The government report due to-morrow should, however, be expected to show about same yield as in May. It would seem that a technical rally at least is overdue.

Corn: This grain showed a relatively strong tone and times was higher than yesterday's close. However, general news outside of the small receipts offers little inducement for sustained buying. Conditions with regard to the new crop are favorable and cash demand only occasionally good and doubt if prices will advance much independent of wheat.

Oats: Price range was narrow with scattered selling and moderate buying demand. At twenty cents for July the support was fair. Cash demand only fair.

Rye: Some rye was reported worked from Canada late yesterday but buyers in rye are decidedly cautious in spite of the severe decline.

LOWER TREND AT MONTREAL

Canadian Press
Montreal, June 8.—Montreal Stock Exchange showed a predominance of losses at the close of trading to-day. Losses were not large, but sufficiently general to mark the trend as definitely lower.

Montreal Power sold down a point to 24. Brazilian Traction at 9 1/4, B.C. Power "A" Dominion Bridge, National Breweries, Cocksfoot Plough, Quebec Power, Shawinigan at 9 1/4, and a number of others showed losses which ranged up to 1 1/4 as in the case of Quebec Power.

In International Nickel touched a low 4 1/2, and closed at that figure, down 1/4. Canadian Car Common and Building Products closed with small gains. Banks were slightly weaker.

IRREGULAR ON TORONTO MINES

Canadian Press
Toronto, June 8.—Futures moved irregularly lower in a dull session on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day. Nickel lost about a 1/2. Smaller recessions were recorded by Noranda, Eldorado, Hudson Bay and Sherrill. In the Hudson Bay lost 10 cents and McIntyre almost 1/2. Dome and Wright Hargreaves also declined. Hollinger improved slightly.

In the nickel market, Chemical Research sold 11 cents lower.

GOLDS FEATURE AT VANCOUVER

Canadian Press
Vancouver, June 8.—Pioneer and Reno Gold issues were the centre of interest in the morning session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange to-day. The session was quite dull and uneventful. NEW BUSINESS METHODS URGED

Hon. H. H. Stevens Addresses Manufacturers' Association Convention in Ottawa

Canadian Press
Ottawa, June 8.—There is no half-way place between private and public control of business affairs, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, said in an address at the Canadian Manufacturers' Association convention in Ottawa yesterday. The time must come quickly, he said, "when business leaders must decide definitely whether they are prepared to take over the full control of their affairs or hand them over to the government."

The minister was addressing a luncheon meeting of the second day's deliberations of the association's sixty-first annual meeting, which will end this evening.

Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, will address the annual banquet this evening, taking the place of Premier Bennett, who is unable to be in Ottawa for the occasion.

The association discussed the Imperial Economic Conference at a closed session yesterday, issuing only a brief statement at the conclusion. No information was divulged as to the policies to be advocated in connection with the conference.

Mr. Stevens expressed apprehension at the growing tendency in other countries to hand over the domain of big business to the government, and he instanced the recent conference of twelve countries at Geneva for the purpose of drawing up agreements for control of the lumber industry.

"Are you business men preparing yourselves to compete with the cartel system of trade growing up in other countries?" Mr. Stevens asked. He was sure there was shortly to be a marked change in the system of marketing goods throughout the world.

His only worry was that Canadian industrialists would fail to read the signs and find themselves left behind to follow the lead of others when these changes came about.

"Is it not better," he asked, "for those engaged in the same industry to formulate a joint marketing system rather than hand on governments to do it for them?"

Chinese Bandits Release Captain

Capt. Charles Baker Tells
Harrowing Story of Experiences During Winter

Will Leave Shortly to Join His Family in Oakland

Shanghai, June 8.—A harrowing tale of five months of terror and filthily living conditions was told here today by Capt. Charles Baker, a Canadian, who was released last week near Hankow by Chinese bandits, who admitted him as a prisoner.

Capt. Baker, who was released after many previous attempts had been made to meet ransom demands of his captors, arrived here on his way to the United States, where he expects to rejoin his family at Oakland, California.

"I was threatened with death fifty times," he said, "I did not expect to survive. These half-civilized, treacherous, inhuman bandits, who call themselves communists, are conducting a wholesale abduction business. Their victims are any foreigners or wealthy Chinese they can lay their hands on, who they believe would be capable of paying huge ransoms."

During the entire five months his food consisted only of half-cooked rice and fish twice a day, he said. He lost thirty pounds in weight.

"It was filthy," he said, "but I ate it occasionally. I refused to drink the water they offered me, however, until it was boiled. I slept in mud huts on bare boards beside the outlaws."

He was frequently threatened with execution because the ransom demand of $50,000 Mexican dollars was not met.

"I was chained and beaten," he said, "apparently because a newly-arrived chief wished to impress his followers."

Capt. Baker told a tale of widespread lawlessness over an area beginning a short distance from Hankow and extending 200 miles along the north bank of the Yangtze.

"This vast area consists of the so-called Chinese communist government," he said, "which is made up of outlaws such as help me."

"I was told they are now holding 6,000 Chinese for ransom, most of whom are doomed to die because the ransom payments are impossible."

COMMANDER BRODEUR
From command of H.M.C.S. Skeena Commander Victor G. Brodeur, R.C.N., was appointed commander-in-charge of the Naval Station at Esquimalt a short time ago. He brought the Skeena out here from England last August and has been here ever since. In his shore position he succeeds Commander Ian Agnew, R.C.N., who has gone to Ottawa. It is interesting to note that Commander Brodeur is a son of the late Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Minister of Marine in the Laurier Government, and later Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec.

ASIA TO DOCK HERE FRIDAY

With a good list of passengers, many of whom are en route to England, the Canadian Pacific liner Express of Asia will reach the Willam Head quarantine station at 6 o'clock Friday morning. Inbound from the Orient and Honolulu, according to a wireless message received here this morning from Capt. A. V. R. Lovegrove, R.N., commander of the ship.

The Asia made her only call of the summer season at Honolulu last Saturday. On all other voyages she crosses the north Pacific direct between Victoria and Yokohama. She will spend about two hours here Friday morning before proceeding to Vancouver.

WILL CHANGE C.N. SCHEDULE

Departure For East Will Be Made From Vancouver Each Evening at 9.50 o'Clock

Important changes in the transcontinental train service, effective Saturday, are announced by George A. McNeill, general passenger agent, Canadian National Railways, today.

The new transcontinental service is scheduled to go into effect next Sunday, but in order to take care of a large party who are booked through to the Old Country and have a boat connection to make on the Atlantic Coast, the eastbound service will go into effect Saturday.

There will therefore be two east-bound trains next Saturday out of Vancouver, one at 8.40 o'clock in the morning and the second at 9.50 o'clock in the evening. For the balance of the summer the eastbound transcontinental train will continue to leave Vancouver at 9.50 o'clock each evening instead of 8.40 o'clock each morning for Jasper, Edmonton, Winnipeg, Chicago, Toronto and Montreal.

The arrival times of arriving trains will be changed and instead of arriving in Vancouver at 6.05 o'clock each evening, the trains will reach here at 7.25 o'clock each morning. The Sunday and Monday trains will arrive at the time, but commencing Tuesday the early morning arrival time will be in effect. A feature of the new train will be the popular lounge and chamber cars.

This new transcontinental service will remain in effect until further notice and Chicago passengers will be handled via Winnipeg on a through sleeper. Close connections are made at Kamloops for passengers to and from the Okanagan Valley.

OLD FISHING VESSEL SOLD

Donna Lane, Well Known in Alaska and Puget Sound Brings $16,000 in Seattle

Seattle, June 8.—The Donna Lane, an old fishing vessel well known in Alaska and Puget Sound, was sold in federal court here Monday by Judge Jeremiah Netter unexpectedly playing the part of an auctioneer.

The vessel was due to be sold at the result of libel attachments. U. S. Marshal Charles E. Allen told the court he could get $7,000 for the Donna Lane at a market value of $10,000, but when the judge took the bench, Attorney Dan Trefethen offered $10,000 cash.

Judge Netter asked if anyone else was bidding, whereupon Attorney F. Fite Jr. said his client, Nils Fauchald, would bid $11,000. "Twelve thousand," said Trefethen.

"We will meet that," retorted Fite. The bidding continued, finally Fite's client was awarded the ship for $16,000, after Trefethen said a financial offer of $15,000 was being played off and could not be reached.

Fite said Fauchald planned to take the Donna Lane to the fishing banks again, as soon as the court settles exceptions to the libel.

H.B.C. OFFICIALS FISH AT JASPER

Jasper Park, June 8.—Three modern descendants of the gentlemanly anglers went into the mountains Monday, and did not return empty handed.

They were Ralph Pearson, trade commissioner, H. P. Wain, manager of fur purchasing agencies, both of Winnipeg, and J. D. J. Forbes, fur sales manager of London, England, all officers of the Hudson's Bay Company.

After a day's fishing in the newly opened waters of Medicine Lake they returned with a nice mess of trout. The trout went east with them also when they left for Winnipeg yesterday morning.

BIPLANE NOW AT MANITOBA CITY

Winnipeg, June 8.—Lieut. R. H. Storer and B. R. Ronold, pilots of the biplane in which they were to fly from Montreal to Vancouver non-stop on June 21, today postponed their departure from Stevenson Field here on the next lap of their eastward flight.

They now plan to take off from here some time next week-end, but they have not yet decided what route they will take to Montreal. The transatlantic flight on June 21 will involve refueling over Winnipeg and Edmonton on the way to Vancouver.

BUOY MISSING
Col. A. W. R. Wilby, agent for the Department of Marine, this morning advised, in an official report to mariners, that the black wooden buoy marking the end of the reef off Liddell Point, at the extreme south end of Prevost Island, is missing. The buoy will be replaced as soon as possible, the notice says.

GOLD CARGOES BOOST TRADE

Freight Revenues on Atlantic in Last Two Months Have Been Greatly Helped

New York, June 8.—Recent gold shipments from America to Europe have resulted in throwing about $1,000,000 of freight revenue in the last two months to the principal transatlantic steamship lines.

While this figure is not enough to cause shipping company stockholders any great amount of jubilation, it nevertheless commands respect from executives of the steamship companies which recently have not been receiving more than one-half to three-quarters of their normal tonnage.

Shipments of gold are expected to continue to Europe for a while longer, but bankers report that the movement should soon begin to dwindle. Since April $400,000 of gold was shipped to Europe for a while longer, but bankers report that the movement should soon begin to dwindle. WATCH BOATS FOR LIQUOR

Fishermen of Narragansett Harbor Out After Gosses Dumped By Rum-runners

Newport, Mass., June 8.—Coast guards seem highly interested in the Gosses fisherfolk these days, but they are not the least interested in fish. Neither are the fisherfolk in the matter, and thereby hangs a fish story. There's something more valuable than the fish in the water off Green Hill, and the fisherfolk know it and the coast guards know it.

A few weeks ago a rum-runner, toiling along the coast, her decks crowded with rum, was sighted by a patrol boat. The liquor was dumped over the gunwales and the rumboat proceeded on its way. After much casting, some fishermen from Block Island landed one of the liquor. The news spread and soon the vicinity was dotted with eager fishermen.

But finding liquor was not all. The fisherman—the successful ones—caught their catches at sea, marking them with lobster floats, and hoped for a dark night.

Since then there have been many attempts, successful and unsuccessful, to land the liquor. Two Gosses fisherfolk were sighted. Two guards only a few feet from the Point Judith breakwater. They escaped, but the fisherfolk were not so lucky. They were caught and the liquor was dumped over the gunwales. The fisherfolk were not so lucky. A. A. TISDALE WILL RETIRE

C.N.R. General Manager West to Leave Service After Forty Years

Vancouver, June 8.—A. A. Tisdale, general manager of the western region of the Canadian National Railways, has announced his retirement from the service after forty years devoted to railway work in Canada. He will leave the active rank at the end of this month.

Terminating an active career spent in transport service Mr. Tisdale has linked his name irrevocably with the progress of the railways he has been associated with in Canada, and particularly with the west, where he came first in 1909 as superintendent of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway at Fort William.

By hard work and diligent application to his task, Mr. Tisdale attracted the attention of the senior officials of the C.N.R. and was later promoted to the position of general manager. He was appointed assistant to the general manager, and in 1929 advanced to the position of general manager. In present position, which he relinquished in 1929, he was in charge of the western region of the C.N.R.

Mr. Tisdale first entered the railway service in 1890, with the Grand Trunk, beginning at the lowest rung of the ladder. He was one of the most prominent officials in Canadian railway circles.
